Bred:

His first graded stakes winner, Marylander Alan Burkhard, whose Somewhere Stables bred Implicated in Kentucky. The 3-year-old daughter of Connect and Burkhard's Tale of the Cat mare Wysteria, won the Pebbles Stakes-G3 at Aqueduct Nov. 11. Burkhard, who lives in Chesapeake City, bought Wysteria as a yearling. She never raced, but joined the Somewhere broodmare band in 2019. Implicated, sold by Burkhard for $125,000 at Fasig-Tipton Kentucky's October yearling sale in 2021, is trained by Chad Brown for Bradley Thoroughbreds and several partners. Wysteria's weanling colt by Knicks Go was an RNA at Keeneland one day before his half-sister's win.

Launched:

By the National Thoroughbred Racing Association, the new "Safety Takes The Lead" campaign highlighting racing's recent enhanced safety and welfare protocols, as well as its commitment to do more. The campaign features a comprehensive safety section at ntra.com, which includes the latest news on safety and welfare programs, videos, and relevant links. "Nothing comes in front of our sport's commitment to equine and human safety," said Tom Rooney, NTRA president and CEO in a press release. "This campaign is designed to help make the public aware of the ecosystem of care around our athletes, the increased independent veterinary oversight, and the collective progress we've made over the last few years, as well as our unwavering commitment to do more and to keep investing in programs that will improve safety standards." Video, digital and print assets will be distributed to every NTRA member organization for use on its media channels. In addition, television spots promoting the new site will air on FanDuel TV and America's Day at the Races, the national television show produced by the New York Racing Association and broadcast nationally on the Fox Sports family of networks. Intended to be a resource for the public and the media, the website will be updated regularly as there are new developments in the areas of safety, welfare and integrity. The first in a series of longer form videos focuses on the reforms implemented in California since 2019 and the resulting progress. Other videos will highlight HISA's programs and their impact on the sport and the promise of new technologies, such as advanced diagnostic tools and wearable biometric devices that can enhance safety measures. The campaign is being produced by communications agency CTP with production resources donated by FanDuel TV, America's Best Racing, and support from other major racing industry stakeholders.

Correction

In an October article about trainer Hammy Smith, Max Hirsch was mentioned as the trainer of Stymie. The Hall of Famer bred Stymie and trained him as a 2-year-old, but the horse became successful after being claimed (and trained) by Hirsch Jacobs.

Accredited:

By the Thoroughbred Aftercare Alliance in 2023, nine new organizations and 37 renewals to expand the TAA network to 86 organizations with approximately 180 facilities in North America. Organizations earning accreditation this year are: After The Races New York, Bowman Second Chance Thoroughbred Adoption, Central Virginia Horse Rescue, Dale and Patti Shirley Equine Encore Foundation, Desert Oasis Rescue, Hidden Pond Farm Equine Rescue, Rising Starr Horse Rescue Corporation and Run for the Ribbons, and Thoroughbred Retirement Network of Louisiana. Accreditation from TAA recognizes organizations that provide care and support for retired racehorses. It signifies the meeting of standards and criteria in terms of horse welfare, facilities, and management. Organizations undergo a thorough application and inspection process prior to accreditation which covers operations, education, horse health

TAYLOR EJDYS

Phlox, a Pennsylvania-bred daughter of Dolphus, shows off her polo ability at the Retired Racehorse Project's Thoroughbred Makeover at the Kentucky Horse Park in October. Winless in three starts at the track for breeder Dede McGehee, the 3-year-old filly placed first in the polo division for trainer Buck Schott. Phlox was one of 34 Mid-Atlantic-breds at the Makeover. Other highlights included Pennsylvania-bred Buffum filly Balboa's Smile (first in barrel racing), West Virginia-bred mare Brooke's Appeal (first in competitive trail/broodmare division), Virginia-bred Bell the Cat (third in show hunter, fourth in show jumper), Maryland-bred Ninetynine Excuses (third in field hunter) and West Virginia-bred Our Miss Betty (fourth in show hunter/broodmare division). THE RACING BIZ

The Independent Voice for Mid-Atlantic Racing and Breeding

Alan Foreman – "An inflection point in our industry": Frank Vespe caught up with Alan Foreman – general counsel to the Maryland Thoroughbred Horsemen's Association who represents that group on the state-created Maryland Racetrack Operating Authority – regarding the future of Maryland racing.

Mid-Atlantic 2024 HISA tab up 16 percent versus 2023: Mid-Atlantic tracks and horsemen will potentially need to contribute more than $17 million to the Horseracing Integrity and Safety Authority (HISA) in 2024, Vespe reported.

Mares bred figs on a steady decline: The Jockey Club's report of mares bred indicates that for the eighth straight year, fewer mares were bred than in the previous year. Vespe spoke with Northview Stallion Station's general manager David Wade.

Breeders' Cup continues "Year of the Regulator": The first Breeders' Cup of the HISA era featured scratches galore and a Classic won by a trainer coming off a 10-year ban, reported Vespe.

Breeders' Cup – Behind every horse, a human story: Beyond the Breeders' Cup racing, wagering, and glitz lies something more profound, says Jennifer Kelly – the connection between horses and humans.

Best horses to run at Delaware Park are…: With the offseason upon us, Mike Valiante pondered – who were the best horses to run at Delaware Park in the last 60 years?

Backtracks – Dixieland Band played on: Maryland-bred Dixieland Band was third-best in a class that included two Classic winners, but went on to big success in the breeding shed. Kelly told his story.

Pennsylvania's Merryman hangs on to star broodmare Zeezee Zoomzoom

By Joe Clancy

Groomed, mane pulled, blanketed, cleaner than she'd been in – well, years perhaps – Zeezee Zoomzoom was ready for her star turn in the ring at Keeneland's November sale in Kentucky. All she had to do was get on the van and show up.

And then her owner asked herself a rhetorical question.

"Wow, is this the last time I'm going to drive in this driveway and see her standing here in this field?" Lizzie Merryman said while steering down the lane of Buffalo Run Ranch near Coatesville, Pa.

The answer was yes, if Merryman went through with selling the dam of multiple Grade 1 winner Caravel, Maryland Million winner Witty and two other winners. Nobody knows for sure what Zeezee Zoomzoom, Hip 237 in the catalog as part of the Hunter Valley Farm consignment, would have sold for but 11 broodmares and broodmare prospects brought at least $1 million at the sale.

Zeezee Zoomzoom stayed at home with the buffalo raised by Merryman's husband Bill Rubin. Her Justify foal is due in late February. And Merryman is content with the decision.

"The mare owes me nothing and she's really happy where she is," she said. "Change is very stressful to her. Going through a sale would be extremely stressful to her. I don't know if it was the best business decision, but it felt a little disloyal to her and a little greedy to cash her in. The timing was right, she's in foal to the right horse on the right cover and all that, but if things go well I can sell her baby and maybe it won't be a bad decision and I'll be able to keep her and give her the life she deserves for always."

A free mare sourced to Merryman by her friend Kim Brette, Zeezee Zoomzoom won once in 10 starts and earned $82,342. The 11-year-old outdid herself in the breeding shed. Bred to Mizzen Mast, she produced Caravel, who won 15 races including the 2022 Breeders' Cup Turf Sprint-G1 and earned $1.9 million. Second foal Tipsy Chatter (by Bourbon Courage) won as a 3-year-old. Third foal Witty (Great Notion) owns six wins, five in stakes, and a $470,460 bankroll through Nov. 20. Three-year-old Mission Man (Holy Boss) has won twice. Two-year-old Enzo (Great Notion) was second in October. A Street Boss yearling filly follows.

For all her success on big stages, the gray daughter of Congrats likes farm life. Shipping to Kentucky to be bred, or to Bobby Manchio's farm to foal, creates some stress and Merryman used that to gauge her opinion of putting her mare through the 600-mile van ride and four days at a sale.

"It wasn't a feel-good decision to sell her," she said. "I was ready. I had the van lined up, all the paperwork done, had her feed packed, she was all shined up and everything was set and ready to go. I woke up Friday morning [Nov. 3] and pulled the plug."

She was supposed to leave Saturday morning. Zeezee Zoomzoom probably wonders what all the fuss was about, but returned to her regular routine.

"She's much happier not having the attention," said Merryman, who booked her mare to Kentucky stallion Nyquist.

Queen Caroline brings $3 million

On the other side of the broodmare equation, Virginia breeder Amy Moore sold her star producer Queen Caroline, in foal to Horse of the Year Flightline, at Fasig-Tipton's November sale for $3 million. The dam of champion Forte was part of a buying spree by Gavin O'Connor on behalf of John Stewart, whose purchases at the sale also included champion Goodnight Olive ($6 million) and Grade 1 winner Pizza Bianca ($3 million).

Bred in Virginia by Morgan's Ford Farm, Queen Caroline sold to Moore for $170,000 as a yearling and won six races (five stakes) while earning $401,608. Her first foal, Forte (by Violence) won four of five as a 2-year-old en route to a championship in 2022. At 3, he added the Fountain of Youth-G2, Florida Derby-G1 and Jim Dandy-G2 and was second in the Belmont Stakes-G1 after missing a start as the potential favorite for the Kentucky Derby-G1. He won seven of 10 starts and earned $3,029,830 before being retired to stand at Spendthrift Farm.

Moore called the sale bittersweet, but also labeled it part of plan.

"I was sad to see her go," she said. "She was the first horse I owned and the first horse I raced and the first mare I bred," Moore said. "She was spectacular and couldn't have been better for me than any other horse. But it was time. I generally want to sell mares when they are 9 or 10 years old and people still want them. It's part of a larger business strategy to not collect older mares."

Moore was happy to see Queen Caroline go to an American buyer, meaning she can follow along as the mare's career continues. The daughter of Blame left Moore's Virginia farm more than a year ago to be boarded in Kentucky, but made an impact.

"She was well-named, the boss of any field she was ever in," said Moore. "She inflicted a lot of bites on other mares to teach them their places, but she was a nice mare to visit with. She would come eat a carrot and accept her admiration and due. I'll miss her."

Moore bought three mares at Keeneland – Distractedprincess (in foal to Good Magic) for $350,000, Canadian stakes winner Lorena (Essential Quality) for $180,000 and Louisiana-bred stakes winner Strong Beauty (Jackie's Warrior) for $110,000.

NOTES: Caravel was offered at Keeneland, but failed to meet her reserve and was listed as a $2.4 million RNA. She will be bred to Justify in 2024 . . . At Fasig-Tipton, Maryland-bred Rich Love sold for $500,000 in foal to Curlin. Bred by Bowman and Higgins Stable, the daughter of Not For Love won once in six starts but has produced five winners. The half-sister to stakes winners Concealed Identity and Peach of a Gal was purchased by Fast Fillies after bringing $140,000 at the same sale in 2022 . . . At Keeneland, Maryland-bred Miss J McKay sold for $350,000 to West Bloodstock on behalf of Repole Stables. In foal for the first time, to Life Is Good, the daughter of Hangover Kid won six races (four stakes) and earned $466,893 . . . Pennsylvania-bred Dame Dorothy also joined the Repole broodmare band, on a $900,000 bid at Keeneland. Bred by Derry Meeting Farm, the daughter of Bernardini won the Humana Distaff-G1 and six other races for trainer Todd Pletcher before being retired in 2015. As a broodmare, she has produced Grade 3 winner Spice Is Nice and was in foal to Gun Runner . . . Pennsylvania-bred mare Love in the Air, who raced through April for Main Line Racing Stable and trainer John Servis (winning two stakes in 2022), sold for $425,000 at Keeneland while in foal to Life Is Good. Japanese breeder Dr. Masatake Iida made the purchase of the Blackstone Farm-bred daughter of Constitution . . . Twelve-time winner (eight in stakes) Chub Wagon, a Pennsylvania-bred star who earned $669,400 for Danny Lopez and George Chestnut, sold for $250,000 at Keeneland to Breeze Easy while in foal to Jackie's Warrior . . . Virginia-bred Jane Mast, in foal to Candy Ride (Arg), sold for $280,000 to Fred Hertrich III at Keeneland. The Audley Farm-bred raced just twice, winning a Saratoga maiden in 2022 . . . Maryland's Sycamore Hall Thoroughbreds was busy as a buyer – landing seven horses at Keeneland, led by a $450,000 weanling filly by Tapit and broodmares Belle of Paree ($435,000, in foal to Authentic) and Chione ($330,000, Bolt d'Oro) . . . Maryland's Country Life Farm bought two broodmares at Keeneland, Kenda ($70,000, Olympiad) and In It for the Gold ($75,000, Authentic) . . . Maryland's Determined Stud went to $550,000 to get broodmare Call Me Candy at Fasig-Tipton . . . Maryland-based Housatonic Bloodstock bought three in-foal mares and a 3-year-old filly for $220,000. Itgetsgreaterlater, an unraced daughter of Justify from the family of new Maryland stallion Cupid, cost $80,000 while in foal to Practical Joke.

New to the Region

Long On Value

Virginia-bred Long On Value, an eight-time stakes winner of $1,136,253, has moved to K&K Stallions in Warwick, Md., for the 2024 season. The property of George Kerr, he stands for $2,500.

A winner from 4½ furlongs on the dirt to 1⅛ miles on the turf, Long On Value was a stakes winner five of the six years he raced. The year he missed out was when racing overseas – he missed winning the Al Quoz Sprint-G1 by a nose. A top-class turf sprinter, he recorded his biggest victory at age 7 when taking Woodbine's Grade 1 Highlander Stakes in 1:07.13 for 6 furlongs.

By Unbridled's Song son Value Plus, Long On Value is out of the Orientate mare Long Message, a half-sister to stakes winner Long Distance. Since 2019 he stood at Pleasant Acres Stallions in Florida – his oldest foals are 3-year-olds this year and include New York allowance winner and $132,288-earner Majestic Return.

First winner

Candygram

First-year West Virginia sire Candygram got his first winner when Sarah's Candy Camp broke his maiden in his second start at Charles Town Nov. 2. The dark bay 2-year-old gelding trained by Ronald Sigler is out of Sarah Melissa (by A. P. Warrior) and was bred by Taylor Mountain Farm. He races under the Casey's Legacy banner, the name of the late James W. Casey's former Taylor Mountain Farm in Charles Town.

Stakes-placed Candygram, an 8-year-old son of Candy Ride (Arg) out of Church Camp, by Forest Camp, stands for private contract.

Dance for Jan

MAGGIE KIMMITT

Andrew Pons visits Dance for Jan (center) and Xtra Classic.

"Golden Bachelor seeks soulmate for long walks and beautiful sunsets."

If Xtra Classic, 19, created an online dating profile, it would read something like that. And Dance for Jan, now 30, is the much older woman who swiped right.

Xtra Classic, a son of Regal Classic and the Distorted Humor mare Thira, has lived at Belle Grove, the Chestertown, Md., farm of Andrew and wife Marva Jones Pons, for the past 16 years. A hip injury kept him unraced, and he's been Andrew's mount since his arrival. Solid, strong and affable, "he's a Cadillac," according to Andrew. But when his longtime pasture mate passed away, Andrew and Marva were left with a grieving senior Thoroughbred in need of consolation and company.

"Andrew said Marva wanted a field companion, preferably chestnut, ASAP when Xtra Classic's buddy suddenly passed leaving him seriously bereft," according to sister-in-law Ellen Pons of Country Life Farm.

"We got Dance for Jan from Rick Abbott in 2014 when he got out of the breeding business," added Christy Holden, Country Life's general manager. "We bred her to Freedom Child to get him started at stud in 2014 and 2015 but then we retired her in 2016."

The Abbotts' Charlton Bloodstock purchased Dance for Jan, then 13 and in foal to Pioneering, from the 2006 Fasig-Tipton Midlantic December mixed sale for $5,700. The year before, she was a $45,000 RNA at Keeneland's November breeding stock sale while in foal to Cat Thief.

Of her 10 foals to race, eight were winners led by stakes winner Jo Jo Dancer and $216,703 earner Kings Challenge. That broodmare career came after a racing career with eight wins and $159,109 earned. Bred by John Jones Jr., the daughter of Citidancer and the National Zenith mare National Charmer spent her racing career with owner Janice McKee Jones and trainer George Morrison. All 31 starts occurred in the Mid-Atlantic, and among her wins were Pimlico's Smart Halo Stakes, Laurel Park's Bold Queen Stakes and, in her final outing Sept. 21, 1997, Charles Town's Charles Funk Memorial.

Dixie Abbott remembered Dance for Jan's time at Charlton in Pennsylvania: "She was the gentle, smart girl in the crowd. Stayed out of everyone's way and just wanted to be peaceful."

A peaceful existence was clearly her primary objective. She became pretty skilled at staying out of everyone's way, so much so that, later in life, catching her became a monumental challenge.

"The biggest thing I remember about her is that she was one of the toughest horses to catch in the field that I've ever dealt with," Holden said. "She knew when you were coming for her and she would just take off. There was no trickery or grain that could catch her if she didn't want to be caught, and if you brought a bunch of people to try and trap her in a corner of a field, she wouldn't go near the fence lines. That was the main reason we couldn't use her as a babysitter for the weanlings like we do our other retired mares, because she would get them all running."

Late in 2020, Marva lost her Appaloosa gelding and Xtra Classic his best friend of many years.

"So we called home and asked if they had anything they could send down," Andrew said.

Holden immediately thought of Dance for Jan.

"I figured she'd be much happier in a small farm situation where she can just live her life," Holden said, "and not need to come in every day with the rest of the herd."

The plan was made for Josh and Ellen Pons to drive Dance for Jan down to Andrew and Marva on a Sunday afternoon in January 2021. Ellen recalls being concerned that the mare would be too difficult to catch for them to actually get her on the van. As luck – and perhaps fate – would have it, that wasn't the case. It was almost as if the old girl knew what awaited.

"Dance for Jan fell into an absolute amazing soft landing at the end of her breeding days," Ellen said.

Truer words were never spoken. Andrew and Marva grew up in the Thoroughbred industry. Marva's family owns Belle Grove. Both worked in Kentucky in the 1980s, Andrew at Spendthrift Farm and as an exercise rider before taking out his trainer's license. Marva worked for The Blood-Horse. The couple returned to Maryland in 1985 and were married at Country Life Farm in 1986.

"I got sober in 1991, changed careers in 1993 and left the horse business behind," Andrew said. "Two years ago, I retired from working for the state as an alcohol and drug counselor, but I still do that part-time."

Dance for Jan's arrival still makes him laugh, as does Xtra Classic's reaction.

"As soon as X saw her, that was it," he said. "There was no hesitation at all, and they've been inseparable ever since. And for 30, she still looks pretty good."

"Jan spends her days following X around their paddock. These two geriatrics couldn't be more different in their personalities and physical characteristics," Marva said. "Jan is really tough to keep weight on despite her consumption of 10 pounds of feed each day. Teeth are an issue, whereas X stays fat on air."

"As soon as [Xtra Classic] saw her, that was it. There was no hesitation at all, and they've been inseparable ever since. And for 30, she still looks pretty good."

– Andrew Pons, about Dance for Jan and her pal

Dance for Jan still hates being caught, but Andrew and Marva figured out how to work around that too. She'll go into her stall in their large run-in shed for feed time, and the door gets closed so she can take her time eating while Xtra Classic chows down in the stall beside her. The gelding waits patiently until she's finished, and Andrew puts a shank on her and leads her out of her stall.

"He'll go in and clean up whatever she leaves behind," Andrew said. "A lot goes in, but a lot falls out of her mouth, too. So I'll hand-feed her some more grub while he's in there."

They've even discovered how to outsmart the mare a bit.

"If we really need to catch her," Andrew said, "we'll get Marva's niece's kids to come over. She'll walk right up to a child."

That's a pretty cool assignment for any child. Belle Grove's 30-plus acres are at their disposal, and the farm next door has given them carte blanche to hack out there as well. While Dance for Jan is completely retired, Xtra Classic still happily packs the children around.

"The night Dance for Jan arrived, Marva sent a pic of Xtra happy with his new chestnut four-legged security blanket," Ellen said. "Almost every conversation I have with Marva is about how amazed they are that Jan is still thriving."

The matchmakers got this one right.

"The minute this mare stepped off the van, X had stars in his eyes," said Andrew. "So this has worked out well for everyone." ■

Stable Tour magic at Breeders' Cup

Over and over, Bill Mott opened a stall screen and made an introduction. "Racehorse, meet this guy Joe," the Hall of Fame trainer said without opening his mouth or actually saying anything. "Joe, meet this racehorse."

Late on a Wednesday morning toward the end of the season at Saratoga Race Course this summer, Mott fulfilled his Fasig-Tipton Stable Tour duties for The Saratoga Special newspaper. I was a last-minute substitute for my brother, stuck in a Saratoga rental while staring at a positive Covid-19 test. Sean was out, I was in. And Mott was on. We think he might prefer to be anywhere else. We also think he enjoys it.

We visited 33 horses counting stable pony Bugsy, I put together the Stable Tour for the final edition of 2023 – readers love it – and didn't think much about it from there.

Until Breeders' Cup Weekend at Santa Anita Park, where tour subjects Cody's Wish, Elite Power and Just F Y I won. Each might be a champion this year and each prodded a little something from Mott back in late August.

• Just F Y I: The 2-year-old filly won her debut by a head four days earlier, on Travers Day. Her neighbor, Munny Rockette, lost her debut six days before that. Mott tried to make sense of training 2-year-olds. With a nod toward one and then the other, he said, "She won and she didn't, but if you'd have asked me beforehand who's better, I wouldn't have been able to tell you. It's all what situation it is, who they're in against, a lot of things. They both ran well. She won and the other one didn't. She's got feet like this [hands six inches apart] and you'd think, 'Well, maybe she's going to have to have grass' but she never worked like she did."

She didn't. George Krikorian's homebred daughter of Justify won Aqueduct's Frizette Stakes-G1 in October and then blitzed 11 rivals in the Breeders' Cup Juvenile Fillies-G1.

• Elite Power: Champion male sprinter of 2022 had his eight-race winning streak snapped by Gunite in the Forego Stakes-G1 four days prior, but didn't seem to care. The chestnut met Mott at the door and filled it with a broad head. "Don't trust him too much. He's tough. You go into catch him . . . the grooms bribe him with carrots but if you go in there without them, he can be pretty tough on you. The winner came back quick too out of the same race, but . . . coming back quick . . . slow pace . . . we gave the winner six pounds. You can make some excuses or reasons [for the defeat]. I think the pace probably worked against him."

Mott pondered next steps for the son of Curlin, then pretty much agreed not to run him until the Breeders' Cup more than two months in the future. Elite Power stayed at Saratoga, didn't breeze for a month, cranked back into form with four workouts on the Oklahoma Training Track and ousted Gunite to repeat in the Breeders' Cup Sprint-G1.

• Cody's Wish: The horse of the year (lowercase) if not the Horse of the Year in 2023, you know him because of his success and his improbable connection to young Kentuckian and namesake Cody Dorman. Mott cracked half a smile and made an unnecessary introduction. "You know this one? Here, put your hand in here and see what happens." Cody's Wish looked at once like a man-eating dragon and a biscuit-begging Labrador, but I didn't move my hand. Four weeks back, Mott tried to stretch the son of Curlin to 1⅛ miles in the Whitney Stakes-G1, only to see his winning streak stopped by White Abarrio. Mott considered the decision and what would come next. "We tried something different . . . There were some suspicions that it wasn't his best distance and it turned out that way. I guess I could have waited for the Forego, but I had the other horse for that. It was just kind of thinking that if he was able to win the Met Mile and the Whitney, that would be pretty special. What else could you expect?"

In a word, nothing. Unbothered by the defeat (or our visit), Cody's Wish went back to work at Saratoga, won the Vosburgh Stakes-G2 at Aqueduct Oct. 1 and added a second consecutive Breeders' Cup Dirt Mile-G1 to further extend a magical career that reached far beyond racing.

In late August, the tour felt like a respite from a stormy year complete with deaths on the racetrack at Saratoga, a confusing launch of the Horseracing Integrity and Safety Authority, a contracting industry with smaller foal crops and all the uncertainty in the Mid-Atlantic. For an hour, I walked the shedrow and listened to a master's-level class about training.

Mott found individuality in, and talked about ways to unlock the potential of, each horse whether it was unraced 2-year-old Knightsbridge (a blowout debut winner in November) or 9-year-old turf icon Channel Maker (now part of the herd at Old Friends retirement farm).

In the moment, I thought I was lucky. I really had no idea. ■

A Classic Taste

AIN'T DA BEER COLD FINDS MARYLAND MILLION WIN IN STEWARDS' STAND

By Joe Clancy ■ Photographs by Eclipse Sportswire/Scott Serio

Eleven times Ain't Da Beer Cold stepped into a Mid-Atlantic racetrack starting gate and lost. Nine times at Laurel Park. Once each at Pimlico and Colonial Downs. He finished second, third, fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth. But after winning two in a row in the summer of 2022, he lost – over and over.

Not that he seemed to mind.

Trained by Kenny Cox for a partnership of his wife Kelly, Matt Spencer and Bonuccelli Racing, the 5-year-old Freedom Child gelding kept right on training, trying and winning over people.

"Everyone loves this horse," said Kelly Cox, the horse's co-breeder with Spencer. "The state vet calls him Chilly because of cold beer. When he was a 2-year-old, once a week he would drop the rider. He's a character, but he's a sweetheart and we love him. It's been a rough year for us, for a lot of people, so it's amazing. He had a great year last year, but this year just wasn't looking as good."

Until Jim McKay Maryland Million Day at Laurel Oct. 14.

From post seven as a 37-1 longshot in the $150,000 Maryland Million Classic, Ain't Da Beer Cold bounced out of the gate and responded to a free rein and plenty of encouragement from Jevian Toledo to take the lead before the first turn. Toledo put his hands down and the chestnut put up early fractions of :23.59 and :48.40 while 2½ lengths clear. Behind him, the others backed up into each other. Market Maven was second, ahead of Dolice Vita with favorite Double Crown waiting to launch a bid and last year's winner Ournationonparade in tight along the rail up the backside.

Still in front on the turn, Ain't Da Beer Cold had company as Market Maven drew alongside just past the quarter pole. He brought All Threes with him as Double Crown got involved from fourth. Ain't Da Beer Cold and Market Maven separated from the others at the top of the stretch, when it looked like the pace chores might finally sap Ain't Da Beer Cold. Market Maven put a head in front in the stretch, drifted out and then in when steered that way by Carlos Lopez. He bumped Ain't Da Beer Cold in mid-stretch, straightened up and then leaned in again just before the finish while prevailing by a neck after 1⅛ miles in 1:52.39. Double Crown was third, 1½ lengths back.

Toledo claimed foul and, after a lengthy review, the Laurel stewards reversed the order – awarding the win to Ain't Da Beer Cold and an overjoyed group of connections.

"I'm sorry, I'm sorry," Kelly Cox said while wiping away tears and pointing toward Laurel's paddock at the end of the stretch. "We were way up there. I didn't even know there was an objection. We were just so happy with him, with the way he ran."

Eighth in last year's Classic, the Maryland-bred won for the first time since a Timonium allowance race Sept. 5, 2022, and improved to 6-for-32 lifetime with $383,559 in the bank through early November. He'll have to sweat it all a bit longer as Market Maven's owner Gregory Gordon and trainer Jamie Ness filed an appeal with the Maryland Racing Commission.

No matter the outcome, Ain't Da Beer Cold's effort will be a thrill. Kenny Cox crafted the frontrunning strategy while handicapping the race, but wanted Toledo's opinion before committing to the plan. The two met in the paddock beforehand.

Ain't Da Beer Cold (right), a son of Freedom Child, and Market Maven contest the Classic to the final inches.

"This is our first homebred, so it's kind of full circle. We lost the mare, the siblings haven't quite turned out, but that's OK. We never lost faith in this horse."

– Co-owner and co-breeder Kelly Cox, about Ain't Da Beer Cold

"I wanted to leave it up to Jevian because he rides him and I believe that they do their job and know what they're doing," Cox said. "The first thing he said to me when he walked out was that he didn't care what I said. He wanted to send the horse and put him on the lead."

That was enough for Cox.

"That's exactly what I was going to tell you," the trainer told his jockey. "No problem. You have nothing to lose, so don't worry about a thing. Do what you've got to do. There's enough speed in there, but they can rate if they want to."

Toledo and Ain't Da Beer Cold did the rest, and put pressure on the others from the outset. As good as he was early, Ain't Da Beer Cold may have been better late as he responded to Market Maven's challenge and fought hard on the rail to come up a neck short.

"He could have sucked out of there, but he stayed in there and kept battling," said Kenny Cox. "I was like, 'We'll be second, but man he ran well.' You can never get upset. I've been doing this too long to get upset with a horse who tries the way he does."

"For him to fight like he did today, I can't believe it," said co-owner Charlie Bonuccelli. "We would have been really proud of him and happy if he'd have finished second and didn't get moved up. He's just been a great horse to have."

Named for the expression used – when things were going well – by longtime Baltimore Orioles broadcaster Chuck Thompson, Ain't Da Beer Cold was bred by Spencer and Cox from the With Distinction mare Distinct Affair. She began her career with Ness, and ran for Jorge Navarro, Marcial Navarro, Michael Tomlinson, Terri Pompay, Claudio Gonzalez and others before getting claimed by Cox for $6,250 in 2014. She won (for $5,000) in March 2015, got claimed away, claimed back (for the same price) in May, started twice more and became a broodmare. Ain't Da Beer Cold was foaled in 2018 and has been followed by Not as Lucky as Us, Da Beers On Ice and Anita Beer. Distinct Affair foaled an Irish War Cry colt this year and died of colic the next day.

"This is our first homebred, so it's kind of full circle," said Kelly Cox. "We lost the mare, the siblings haven't quite turned out, but that's OK. We never lost faith in this horse."

Brother Act in Turf Sprint

Move over – a little – Caravel. Witty, a half-brother to the 2022 Breeders' Cup Turf Sprint-G1 winner, continues to build a career of his own and added the $100,000 Maryland Million Turf Sprint to his record for owner/breeder/trainer Lizzie Merryman.

The son of Great Notion made the win look dramatic by dropping to last of 12 early as Odinson and 2021 Turf Sprint winner Grateful Bred set the early fractions. Still in the back, 9 lengths behind the leaders, after three-eighths of a mile, the 4-5 favorite charged up the rail for Toledo and won by 1¼ lengths in 1:02.64 for 5½ furlongs. Tidewater finished second, a neck ahead of Whenigettoheaven.

Bred and raised in Pennsylvania by Merryman, Witty is the third foal out of the Congrats mare Zeezee Zoomzoom. The first you know. Caravel, by Mizzen Mast, won 15 of 26 starts (the first eight for Merryman as the sole owner), captured two Grade 1 stakes including the Breeders' Cup and earned $1,983,327. She won six of those eight for Merryman, who sold a 75-percent interest to Bobby Flay midway through 2021. The filly won Saratoga's Caress Stakes-G3 for Flay and Merryman, then moved to trainer Graham Motion. After three more starts, Caravel sold for $500,000 and moved to trainer Brad Cox for Qatar Racing and partners. She won eight more races and turned into one of the top turf sprinters in the country.

Kid brother Witty won two of three, capped by the Pennsylvania Nursery, as a juvenile in 2021 and added two more wins (both stakes) in 2022. Moved to the turf in July, the gray gelding came into the Maryland Million off three seconds and a win (in the Ben's Cat Stakes Sept. 16). He won three stakes on the dirt and made a start in the Smarty Jones Stakes-G3 around two turns as a 3-year-old, but turf sprinting seems to be his forte.

"If it wasn't for Caravel I don't think I would have even tried it," Merryman said of the change. "He hurt his eye so bad last year and he doesn't like running into the dirt anymore. The turf alleviates that situation."

And he's got some closing kick. He didn't really start running until inside the final furlong, pricked his ears at Laurel's standard finish line, then went back to running toward the second. He improved to 6-for-18 with seven seconds and $464,460 earned. He follows Caravel and the winning Bourbon Courage mare Tipsy Chatter on Zeezee Zoomzoom's produce record. They've since been joined by Mission Man, a Holy Boss gelding with two wins in 11 starts, and Enzo, a Great Notion colt who was second at Laurel Oct. 27. A free broodmare sourced to Merryman by Kim Brette, Zeezee Zoomzoom produced a Street Boss filly in May 2022, did not have a foal in 2023, and is in foal to Triple Crown winner Justify.

"She was my fun mare to breed locally and breed to race because they certainly weren't marketable because four dams took up half the [catalog] page," said Merryman. "Now, it's different. Caravel takes up a lot, Witty takes up a good chunk now too. Mission Man is a lovely horse, he's way the most immature of them and I think they're the type that get better and better with age."

Merryman entered Zeezee Zoomzoom in the Keeneland November Sale, where Caravel was a $2.4 million RNA, but withdrew the 11-year-old mare. The Justify foal is due in a couple months.

Intrepid Daydream adds Distaff

The Distaff drew the deepest field on the card with six-time winner Luna Belle making her first start since May 2022, Fille d'Esprit eyeing a repeat, Mavilus seeking her 11th win, Malibu Beauty looking to go one better than her seconds in 2021 and 2022 and Response Time eyeing a repeat of her Timonium Distaff win from August.

Three late scratches let in Maryland-bred (but not Maryland-sired) Intrepid Daydream, who was made the even-money favorite by bettors and earned a 3-length victory for jockey Toledo. The daughter of Jess's Dream sat fourth outside Response Time and Malibu Beauty early, challenged for the lead after a half-mile in :46.67 and powered away in the stretch through 7 furlongs in 1:24.62. Response Time finished second with Luna Belle third.

Paul "Larry" Fowler's homebred collected her third consecutive victory for trainer Gary Capuano. Fowler laughed at how it all came to be.

"I was home on the couch watching the races and Gary texted me, 'Well, we're going to be in,' " Fowler said. "I was like, 'In what?' Really. I had to rush around to get here. I didn't even handicap the race because I just figured we weren't running. But she ran like she always runs, God bless her. It's amazing. To breed them, and everything you go through with all the horses. I've been with Gary 25, 30 years maybe. The ups and downs are unbelievable."

Intrepid Daydream goes back to Hongkong Tour, a $6,000 purchase by Capuano at Keeneland September in 2006. The daughter of Broken Vow won four of five and produced Intrepid Daydream's dam Intrepid Tour among others.

Precious Avary lands Ladies

Last summer, as 2-year-old filly Precious Avary approached her debut, trainer Tim Shaw's exercise riders would return with the same report.

"She's different."

Different than the others in the barn anyway, maybe even different than all sorts of horses. Second in her first race, on the dirt at Monmouth Park last September, she won at the Meadowlands a month later, added three more wins in 2023 and headed into the $125,000 Ladies on the turf as a key player in a field of eight. The 3-1 second choice and jockey Silvestre Gonzalez led throughout and hung on late to score by three-quarters of a length over Naval Empire with Golden Heart third. Bred in New Jersey by owner Smith Farm and Stable, Precious Avary stayed undefeated in three turf starts and pushed her career bankroll to $272,948.

Shaw went back to the beginning while trying to describe the dark bay.

"She just did things so easily," he said. "Her first half-mile, she was ready to re-break again. When I work her a half and she comes back to the barn, you wouldn't know we did anything. You would think we jogged a mile. She's not blowing. You always hear, 'She wasn't even blowing' but she truly doesn't blow after doing something like that. That's what started me thinking about her – you know, 'What is this? What's going on here?' "

Plenty. She goes back to Bo Smith's $11,000 purchase of broodmare Run Tan Tan at Keeneland November in 1989. The Run Dusty Run mare produced six winners for Smith, including the Lord Avie mare Avary Run. In turn, that mare produced nine winners from nine foals, including Precious Avary's dam Alytania.

Precious Avary (Divining Rod) digs in late to capture the Ladies for trainer Tim Shaw and owner/breeder Smith Farm and Stable.

Smith connected with Shaw through New Jersey training legend Danny Perlsweig. The Maryland Million win mattered to the Parx Racing-based trainer.

"The owners have put so much money into the game and they've been in the game a long, long, long, long, long, long-long time," he said. "We went through two or three years where things just kind of fizzled out. They're home breeders and they've bred wonderful horses . . . It's kind of trickled down a little bit and the horses haven't really materialized like we had hoped but this one came out of nowhere and everything is good."

Repeat in the Turf

On the way out of the winner's circle after the Turf, somebody joked with owner/trainer Sammy Davis that the race might someday be named for his horse.

"They could call it the Prankster," Davis said with a cackle.

It might take a third win, but Wicked Prankster could be back in 2024 to give it a go. The 5-year-old Mosler gelding rode a five-race losing streak into the 2023 version – his last win coming in the 2022 race – and made his front-running style stand up to claim the $125,000 race. Ten tackled the Turf's 1⅛ miles, with Wicked Prankster setting sail on the lead for Yomar Ortiz. They set solid fractions, built a 2-length lead by mid-stretch and held off late-running Starstruck Notion by three-quarters of a length. Jack's Legend, a full brother to two-time Turf winner Talk Show Man, was a neck back in third.

Claimed by Davis for $25,000 in his career debut in 2020, Wicked Prankster won for the fifth time in his 30th start and flashed his versatility. In 2022, he won the Turf six days after winning an allowance race at Laurel. This time, he was making his first start since August.

"I guess he just likes to run," said Davis. "Last year I just didn't want to breeze him so I ran him and then ran him in the race. He always runs the best race off a layoff anyways, if you look at his form, you know what I'm saying? He'd been training very good coming up to the race. All his workouts have been bullets. He's been doing good and he's 5 years old now so he's kind of settled down now."

The same can't be said for Davis and a slew of well-wishers, who overflowed the winner's circle and wound up standing in the mud of the main track for a post-race photo.

"This is all my family," Davis said with a sweep of his arm toward a crowded bar area for the post-race champagne toast. "They came to support me. There's always a lot of people. The winner's circle can't hold us, so I say, 'Let's take it out on the track.' A win like this matters to everybody, but it really matters to me. It's important."

Davis galloped for trainer Gary Capuano for 10 years, partnering with stakes horses Captain Bodgit, Cherokee's Boy, Grundlefoot and others and trains a string of six at Laurel. He doubles as the stable exercise rider.

"I gallop him every morning, I'm 56, I'm still young," he said. "I only get on my own, that's enough for me. The jocks breeze them. I don't breeze them anymore. He's tough to gallop, he's a boy and you just have to leave him alone. It's just like how he runs the race, that's how he likes to gallop in the mornings."

Juvenile Success Story

When some handicapping guru tells you to dig deep to find an angle, the 2023 Maryland Million Lassie might be what he or she had in mind. Broodmare Tejano Sea's first foal, Keep Momma Happy (by Scipion), won the 2012 Nursery in his debut. Eleven years later her ninth foal, Miss Harriett, won the Lassie in her debut.

Racing for breeder David Baxter's Narrow Leaf Farm, as Keep Momma Happy did, Miss Harriett and jockey Jean Briceno battled for the lead with Remember Me, took over after a half-mile in :46.31 and held off Sheilahs Warcloud by a neck with Kissedbyanangel third. The winner covered 6 furlongs in 1:12.23 and paid $126.60 to win. Pimlico-based Brandon McFarlane, 2-for-56 on the year coming in, trained the winner. The gray daughter of Blofeld impressed her trainer in the morning, but came in with plenty of question marks.

"I got the gate card three days ago, so that's something," McFarlane said. "I got a couple works into her and every single one she beat who she was with. I didn't know who she was with though. I was just hoping she would dig in. She never had pressure, ever in her life. We never got into her, ever. This is the first time I actually saw a jock get into her. I work her easy, I like nice and easy works – no bullets, no anything and this was the first time I got to see what she's got."

Tejano Sea won three races, but her offspring have outdone her. All nine are winners, topped by Cheese On (eight wins), In Arrears (six), graded stakes-placed Hemp, and the two Maryland Million winners.

While a first-timer won the Lassie, Catahoula Moon put his experience to work in the Nursery for 2-year-olds. In his fifth start, the son of Golden Lad broke toward the back but found a spot stalking a slew of pace players before taking over in the stretch and drawing off by 4¾ lengths after 6 furlongs in 1:12.24.

Trained by Jerry Robb for Super C Racing, the dark bay lost his first two starts at Laurel over the summer, then graduated going 6½ furlongs at Timonium in September. Second in allowance company at Pimlico Sept. 24, he surprised Robb with the early success.

"He's a huge horse, he came as a big dummy," said the trainer. "A guy in Kentucky broke him and he said it was going to take forever to get him ready. I ran him the first time and he ran a little green. The third time he broke in front and it was over. The last time was a good race because he laid off the pace and came running. He came into this perfectly. Everything went perfect for a change."

Bred in Maryland by Angela Coombs, Catahoula Moon sold for $19,000 as a weanling and $20,000 as a yearling – where he joined the Super C team headed by Coombs' husband Mike.

Seven's Eleven shows speed in Sprint

Steve Reed sounded like he was auditioning for a Maryland Million commercial after winning the Sprint with homebred Seven's Eleven.

"It's a good feeling, my first stakes win, first Maryland Million win," said the Parkton, Md., resident. "I've been in the game for a while. I've got a couple mares. It only takes one."

Seven's Eleven (Bandbox) delights Angel Cruz after winning the Sprint by a comfortable 5 lengths.

Seven's Eleven might be the right one. After three starts – each a little better than the one before – last year, the 3-year-old Bandbox gelding opened 2023 with a maiden win, added an allowance in March and came into the Sprint off a runaway allowance score Sept. 29. He backed up that form with another powerhouse effort, scoring by 5 lengths over Twisted Ride and Holy Synchronicity for trainer Carlos Mancilla.

Reed, who bred and raced Seven's Eleven's dam Senorita Siete after buying her dam Montana Cottonwood (in foal to Lion Hearted) for $10,000 in 2006, called the stakes win part of a progression.

"I knew, when I pulled him out of the mare, that he could be a nice horse," said Reed. "I could tell he was athletic. He was a physical animal, he still is. But he looks like a Greyhound. He's lean and long and lanky, and never filled out. He's a late foal, almost a May foal [April 30], but more than anything the heart makes the horse too and he's got heart."

Delayed by shins and other setbacks, Seven's Eleven didn't race until November last year and went more than five months between races this year before returning in September. The Sprint was his fourth win in 10 starts, and a third in allowance company Nov. 2 pushed his career bankroll to $177,230.

Montana Cottonwood (by Horatius) produced six winners for Reed, who races as Cottonwood Stable, and is retired on the farm at age 24. Her daughter Senorita Siete's first foal, Buffum's Beauty, won three races in Montana and Wyoming this year after being sold. The Senor Swinger mare has a yearling filly by Street Magician and produced a Good Samaritan colt in 2023.

Reed went racing with his grandfather as a child and got into ownership with a cousin.

"He bailed and I stayed," said Reed, who owned Lil Indy, the dam of future champion Maximum Security, before selling her for $80,000 in 2014. "I'm just concentrating on making good baby horses now. This is pretty special. We'll just see how far he goes from here."

Fresh off a September claim at Pimlico by Emanuel Geralis Jr., Disputed Claim won a starter handicap for Thousand Watts Racing Stable. Bred in Maryland by Charles McGill, the Golden Lad gelding lost his first six starts but ran his winning streak to three in the 7-furlong sprint . . . Super Ninety Nine mare Bad Temper lit up the tote board at $72 when she won a 7-furlong distaff starter for Brothers In Blue and trainer Gina Perri. Bred in Maryland by William Campbell, Bad Temper won for the third time this year and fourth overall . . . Three-year-old Blofeld gelding Bonded closed the card with a turf starter win over 13 others for JR Sanchez Racing Stable and trainer Rodolfo Sanchez-Salomon. Bred in Maryland by Murmur Farm, the winner won for the fifth time in 16 starts . . . Handle on the 12-race card reached $5,391,745, sixth highest in the country on the day . . . Northview Stallion Station's Great Notion sired a Maryland Million winner (Witty) for the 14th consecutive year. The win made Great Notion the third sire to reach 20 Maryland Million wins, behind Not For Love (37) and Allen's Prospect (22). Blofeld and Golden Lad each had two winners on the day. Former Country Life Farm stallions Freedom Child and Super Ninety Nine sired the top two finishers in the Classic . . . Toledo won four on the day to give him 17 for his career (pending the Classic appeal decision), one behind Edgar Prado and tied with Ramon Dominguez on the all-time leaderboard. Forest Boyce rode her eighth Maryland Million winner, to tie Julie Krone among female jockeys. ■

MCKEE, PETTY CARRY ON TRADITIONS, MEMORIES IN WEST VIRGINIA

By John Piassek ■ Photographs by Coady Photography

Anyone who follows West Virginia racing only casually may have looked at the results of West Virginia Breeders Classics night at Charles Town Oct. 14 and thought it was nothing but champagne and roses for Cyndy McKee and Kristy Petty.

McKee, president of the West Virginia Thoroughbred Breeders Association and owner of Beau Ridge Farm, which she owned for many years with her husband John, trained a pair of homebred winners on the card: Triple Crown Nutrition victress Direct the Cat and Onion Juice hero No Change. A third Beau Ridge-bred horse, Penguin Power, won on Classics night for the fifth consecutive year, taking the Dash for Cash.

Petty, meanwhile, won the Cavada Stakes for the second consecutive year with homebred Hessica, and also saddled Jubawithatwist to victory in the Vincent Moscarelli Memorial. Later, Jubaslilballerina and Juba's Hat Trick, both bred by Taylor Mountain Farm, run for many years by Petty's partner John A. Casey, won the Department of Tourism and the West Virginia Lottery, respectively.

Yet, the evening was bittersweet for both. John McKee died at age 83 Feb. 25, while John Casey passed March 3 at age 61, less than two months after the death of his father, James.

"You can imagine being with someone for 45 years and all of a sudden they're gone," said Cyndy of adjusting to living without her business, and life, partner. "We worked together every day; we did everything together. It's been quite a blow; it's been an emotional rollercoaster. Of course, I'm glad the horses are winning, but I'm also sad that he's not here to see them, so, you know, it has its ups and it has its downs."

Following John's passing, Cyndy sold some stock at a reduction sale in August. She still has about 30 horses in training, and more than 100 at Beau Ridge, including a five-deep stallion roster, and a few dozen yearlings and weanlings.

One stallion, Fiber Sonde, has become a prominent name in the state racing industry. Unraced due to injuries sustained as a young horse, Fiber Sonde came home with John and Cyndy as a stallion prospect after an $8,000 purchase at the Keeneland November sale in 2007. He's sired more than 200 winners and earners of $21.5 million and has been the leading stallion in West Virginia three times.

The McKees purchased one of their newest stallions, and the potential heir to Fiber Sonde, the also unraced Redirect, for $15,000 at Keeneland November in 2019. They believed the similarity to Fiber Sonde was a sign: "We asked why the horse didn't run, and they said he ran through a fence and broke his shoulder," said Cyndy. "Well, as a baby, Fiber Sonde had run through a fence, and he didn't do anything as bad as break his shoulder, he just had some marks on his legs, and John said it was an omen; if we can afford this horse, we're going to buy him. Obviously, we afforded him and brought him home."

Redirect's first crop hit the track this year, and he was well-represented out of the gate by Direct the Cat, who won the Triple Crown Nutrition by 12¼ lengths as the 1-5 choice. She's a daughter of McKee homebred Cat Thats Grey (Fiber Sonde), who won the 2014 West Virginia Division of Tourism, and whose dam, Red Cherries Spin, cost $2,500 at Keeneland November in 2009. Though Cyndy says Cats That Grey was a "pretty feisty little thing" as a racehorse, she's mellowed as a broodmare. Her first foal, Command the Cat, by Beau Ridge stallion Master Rick, is an 11-time winner with earnings of more than $244,000.

Direct the Cat, foaled March 1, 2021, made an early impression as she was the champion of the yearling show, and overall reserve champion, at the 2022 West Virginia Breeders Show. She went to Clovis Crane to be broken, and returned to Cyndy's barn at Charles Town in time for a July 6 debut. Third, then second, in her first two starts, she improved sharply with an 11-length victory Aug. 10. A dominant 6¾-length win in the Sept. 22 Rachel's Turn – a race named for the McKee-bred star of the late 1980s and early 1990s – set her up well for Classics night. Despite the hype, Cyndy was still nervous.

"Everyone was telling me that it was a walk in the park," she said. "It's never a walk in the park. She hadn't been 6½ furlongs, she's not run in the slop, and she hadn't seen the starting gate in the middle of the infield."

Once the race got started, though, many of Cyndy's doubts were put to rest.

"I thought she took everything really well. She didn't break very well, and I put my program up over my face. After a while, one of my friends told me, 'You can put your program down now, she's on cruise control.' I just looked at her and said, 'Oh my God, she's going to do it again.' She just spurted away from 'em and away she went. I didn't expect her to win by that far, and I don't know if we can slow her down any, but it looks like she does it on her own anyway."

Ridden by Reshawn Latchman, Direct the Cat followed that victory with a 7½-length win in the James and Eleanor Casey Memorial Nov. 4, putting a bow on an impressive freshman season and ensuring her status as champion West Virginia-bred 2-year-old filly.

"She was always a decent mover and got over the ground well," said Cyndy of her budding star. "She's very well-behaved. She's pretty much a lady. We haven't really had any trouble with her, I better knock on wood, because next thing

Direct the Cat splashes to victory in the Triple Crown Nutrition, part of a bittersweet night for Cyndy McKee.

"He's an amazing ol' horse. That mare was an absolute homebred, Aye Robbin. She was out of Aye Jacoby, who was by Aye's Turn, who was one of our old-time stallions, and she was by Robb, who we also stood, so watching that does make you feel good, like your breeding system works."

– Cyndy McKee, about five-time Breeders Classics night winner Penguin Power

I know, she'll be doing something stupid, but she's been a very well-behaved young lady."

No Change, a son of Fiber Sonde, took to the track one race later in the Onion Juice. He didn't hit his best stride as quickly as Direct the Cat. Though he broke his maiden at second asking in December 2020, he didn't win his first stakes until the 2022 Confucius Say in April of his 4-year-old campaign. As a 5-year-old, No Change has done his best work. He won the Frank Gall Memorial in his final Classics night prep Aug. 25, then won the Onion Juice by 6½ lengths in his first Classics night win.

"With him, he has to have his way." said McKee. "He has one run in him; you can't send this horse. If you send him early, you don't have it late, so you've almost got to let him pick his own pace and let him come from off it, and hopefully he doesn't get too far behind. He has improved, we gave him some time off last year, and his campaign wasn't as hard this year, we kind of picked his spots [No Change raced seven times this year, after making a combined 24 starts in 2021 and 2022]. He might be done for the year, I don't know, the new condition book hasn't come out yet, there might be one more allowance spot for him. If not, we'll just piddle around with him until spring."

One race later, in the Dash for Cash, Penguin Power completed a McKee-bred hat trick while also becoming the first horse to win a Breeders Classics race in five consecutive seasons. He won the Onion Juice from 2019-21, and the Dash for Cash the last two seasons.

Like many Beau Ridge-breds, Penguin Power carries a deep McKee legacy: "He's an amazing ol' horse. That mare was an absolute homebred, Aye Robbin. She was out of Aye Jacoby, who was by Aye's Turn, who was one of our old-time stallions, and she was by Robb, who we also stood, so watching that does make you feel good, like your breeding system works."

Aye Robbin produced three winners from as many starters before her death in 2017. Penguin Power's full-sister, Aye a Song, won four stakes, including the 2015 Triple Crown Nutrition, and produced a colt by Vekoma April 15. She was bred to a new Beau Ridge stallion, Cancun, for 2024.

Jeff Runco, who has campaigned Penguin Power throughout his 36-race career for David Raim, attributes the success to patience: "We space his races pretty far apart, give him plenty of time between races throughout the year, give him winters off after the Breeders Classic. It was fantastic, he ran great. He did his thing, rated a little off the pace. The new distance of 4½ furlongs the last couple of years has really suited him well, so that's worked out nicely, he ran a super race."

Of future plans for the 8-year-old gelding, Runco said, "He's getting toward the end of his career with us, you know, we're going to see how he does this year and maybe a little bit into next year, and if it looks like he's still gung-ho, then we'll give him another shot."

Twice a winner this year and never worse than third in six starts, Penguin Power owned 19 lifetime victories (all at Charles Town) and $569,999 in earnings through Nov. 10.

Cyndy is proud to continue John's legacy and has enjoyed success all year. Through Nov. 5, she had won 29 races from 128 starts as a trainer, with earnings of $735,873.

Veteran Penguin Power collects his fifth Breeders Classics night win.

"It means a lot," said Cyndy of her success, "but it also hurts too, because it means he's not here. I just hope I learned enough from him to keep going. That's my main concern."

Petty grew up around horses at Fair Hill Training Center, and became a jockey in 1998. She first came to Charles Town in November of that year, and rode until 2010, guiding home 181 winners in her career. She took time off from the saddle in the mid-2000s when pregnant with her now 15-year-old son Allen, the namesake of Taylor Mountain's champion mare Down Town Allen. She became an owner/breeder in 2012 and got her trainer's license in 2020, saddling her first winner Oct. 17 of that year.

This year started on a bitter note for Taylor Mountain, when Jim Casey, the 92-year-old patriarch of the family, died Jan. 8. Control of the racing and breeding operations passed to John, but he passed March 3.

With plenty of experience in all aspects of the operation, Petty did not find the transition especially difficult from an everyday perspective. John's longtime friend Ronnie Sigler took over training most of the horses, while ownership legally passed to another friend of John's, Brad Broy. The horses now race under the ownership entity Casey's Legacy.

Allen was also a big help around the farm.

"My son, he's a very good equipment operator," said Petty. "He realizes that the horses, you know, are what buys the equipment. He says that's something Mom and Dad always did, that he will do whatever he can to help, but he doesn't have a huge interest in the horses. So, you know, after his dad passed, he was like, 'Mom, I want to keep it going, just like Dad was here.' "

Through all the loss, Petty has kept Taylor Mountain going through another successful year.

"I hope that the two men that got all this going are up there shining down on us and proud of us, because my main goal is just to continue their legacy," she said. "I know that they would want it. They wouldn't want to see it all sold and disappear. They'd done it all their life, they've been a big aspect of West Virginia breeding, and I'm the one that can keep it going, with the help of others, and that's what our son Allen wants, and that's what I want, and like I said, you don't get the phone calls after you win a race that John used to give, and Mr. Casey's not around to tease us, saying all that good stuff. So you miss the little things. I just hope we're making them proud, and that it's been worth all the stress we've had during this difficult time. We couldn't have had a better year. It doesn't get much better than this year."

Hessica adds a second consecutive Cavada win for breeder/owner/trainer Kristy Petty.

Taylor Mountain's flagship stallion, Juba, has been a big part of the success. He has sired 33 winners in 2023 (through Nov. 9), including all four of Taylor Mountain's and Petty's winners on Classics night.

"He is a gentleman," said Petty of the soon-to-be 13-year-old gray son of Tapit. "My son, who is not a true horse person, he can breed him. He's just very classy, he loves candy, loves his carrots, he's just a true gentleman and a pleasure to be around. A lot of his babies act the same way. They have a lot of class, they're built nice, and their performance proves that it's working out for us."

Juba's first winner of the night was promising 2-year-old Jubawithatwist, bred by John Casey and owned/trained by Petty. Out of the Casey homebred Romantic Cork, a two-time Breeders Classic winner and farm favorite, Jubawithatwist entered the Moscarelli as the 3-5 favorite following a dead-heat victory in the Henry Mercer Memorial Sept. 29 and a pair of stakes placings in open company. Petty attributed the dead-heat to his greenness.

"When he dead-heated, he was lugging in a little bit, so [Gustavo] Larrosa was having a bit of a hard time trying to keep him from lugging in onto the other horse," she said. "Otherwise, you never know, but I think he probably should've won that race by himself, but he has a bit of a lugging-in issue, but only in the evenings."

In the Moscarelli, he stalked early leader King Kontie and drew off to win by 1½ lengths under Gustavo Larrosa.

"He's just a class act. I wouldn't say he knows what he's doing yet, he just has that natural ability," Petty said. "He literally just floats across the ground. It's almost like he just rolls on air. He's done everything so easy from day one that I don't know if he's reached his peak yet. You wonder what he really has [ability-wise]."

Two-year-old Jubawithatwist gears down after winning the Vincent Moscarelli Memorial, the start of a big night for stallion Juba.

Juba's Hat Trick was the third (yes, third) of four winners that night for the stallion Juba, whose daughter Jubaslilballerina (below) annexed the West Virginia Department of Tourism.

Next up, in the Department of Tourism, Petty sent out 1-2 favorite Juba's Parade, but she only managed fourth as Jubaslilballerina, bred by Taylor Mountain, owned by Casey's Legacy and trained by Sigler, got the job done by 2¼ lengths as the biggest longshot in the field at 33-1. After starting her career 0-for-7 with six seconds, she won three of her next five, including on Breeders Classics night. She returned to finish fourth in the My Sister Pearl Stakes Nov. 11.

"She's definitely the type of horse you want," said Petty. "She's honest, she gives you all she has, and she's got a huge heart." Of Juba's Parade's effort, Petty said, "She had a little bit of traffic trouble, and I don't think she liked the track that much, because it was a bit of a nasty night."

One race later, in the West Virginia Lottery, Juba completed a sire Pick Three. Casey's Legacy and Sigler sent four starters to the post, and the appropriately named Juba's Hat Trick won by a length over stablemate Lord of Cork. Petty saddled Juba's Notion and Summoning Denis for herself; they finished third and ninth, respectively.

"We brought him in later as a 2-year-old, and he's a little bit like Jubawithatwist, and I'm not so sure we know exactly what he's capable of, because it's come so easy to him," Petty said of the 3-year-old gelding, 5-for-6 lifetime including a debut win April 22. "I don't think he's really been asked to lay it down yet, so it looks promising."

The crescendo of Petty's night came when her homebred Hessica earned her second consecutive win in the Cavada. Following a customary winter break, the 4-year-old returned to the races May 4, but did not win again until her fifth start of the year July 22. Petty wasn't surprised, saying it usually takes a few races to find her best form, usually peaking around Classics time.

Sent off at 4-1 in this year's Cavada, Hessica moved toward the front in the three path on the final turn and drew away to a 4½-length win.

"Honestly, I never, ever thought that I would win the Cavada for myself once, let alone twice, two years in a row with the same horse," said Petty. "It's unbelievable, and I'm very thankful and blessed."

Petty said Hessica returned to her winter break, with an eye on spring return and a third Cavada.

The night's featured event, the $300,000 Sam Huff, named for the co-founder of Classics night, went to local star Coastal Mission. Coming off a win against open company in the Russell Road Aug. 25, Coastal Mission stretched to 1⅛ miles for the Huff, and led throughout to win by 5¾ lengths as the 1-5 favorite for the Runco barn. Raim-owned Muad'dib, finished second while bidding for a third consecutive win in the race.

Coastal Mission improved to 8-0-0 from nine starts with earnings of $428,205 this year. He's won nine consecutive races at Charles Town and is 10-for-11 there lifetime. The son of Great Notion was also one of nine horses in North America to win at least eight races this year through Nov. 9 while improving to 11-for-16 lifetime with $566,653 earned.

Following the Russell Road win, Runco was at a crossroads with his Coleswood Farm homebred: keep him at shorter distances, or try to stretch out in the Huff? Ultimately, the Huff's purse proved to be the deciding factor.

"He came out of the [Russell Road] fine, and I thought the horse would stretch out by the way he trains and the way he's been running in his last few races, and you know the purse was so much better," Runco said. "I had seven weeks to prepare the horse for the mile-and-an-eighth, so I figured I'd try it."

Runco was thrilled to win the signature race of the evening.

"We work all year for everything," he said, "but that's our big day, we always like to try and have everyone ready for that night, and try to do as well as we can."

Someday Is Today won the Roger Ramey Breeders Classic Distaff by 6½ lengths for trainer Anthony Farrior.

Registered VA stallion
TrueNicks available

The final Classics race of the night, the Roger Ramey Distaff, went to Someday Is Today, who stalked the pace and drew off to get her first stakes win by 6½ lengths for owner Andrew Warren and trainer Anthony Farrior. Schiano Racing and Carpe Diem Syndicate bred the 5-year-old daughter of Carpe Diem, who sold twice as a yearling: for $50,000 at the Fasig-Tipton Kentucky February Mixed Sale in 2019, then for $30,000 at the Kentucky Fall Yearling Sale that October. She validated her form with an impressive six-length win in the Nov. 11 My Sister Pearl, which improved her career record to 9-2-3 from 20 starts with earnings of $250,452.

CHARLES TOWN NOTES

Taylor Mountain-bred Coach Rube won the final stakes race of the evening, the Blue and Gold Stakes, at 38-1 for owner Top Notch Racing, trainer Michael Jones Jr. and jockey Orlando Bocachica. She's a daughter of the late Taylor Mountain stallion Windsor Castle . . . Farrior (125 wins) and Arnaldo Bocachica (167) held big leads in the trainer and jockey standings, respectively, through Nov. 12. Bocachica won three on the Breeders Classics card. ■

High-Tech Horse Safety

PET SCANNERS PLAYING BIGGER ROLE IN INJURY DIAGNOSIS

It wouldn't have taken much – given the circumstances – but Dr. Luis Castro went a little rogue at Saratoga Race Course this summer.

The veterinarian, a partner at Teigland, Franklin and Brokken practice and an equine veterinarian for more than three decades, witnessed two catastrophic breakdowns by sure-thing winners in Grade 1 races and endured the fallout of 16 other equine fatalities at the eight-week meet, all while working through the normal ups and downs of his job.

"Devastating day for us all," Castro posted on Twitter Aug. 26, the day New York Thunder fractured his left front leg while in command of the Grade 1 H. Allen Jerkens Memorial. "We need a PET scan on NYRA property NOW. I know we can't scan every horse tomorrow but start with 1, and then another. Experimental screening tools like biomarkers and stride analysis are not ready for prime time. PET is. This is not sustainable."

Castro probably wanted to take back the "prime time" comment about newer technology, but the point remained – the advanced imaging capabilities of PET scanners make them a valuable, proven resource when it comes to early detection of potential injuries in racehorses. And the impact is only growing. Castro would like to see it grow further, even if he knows no technology or treatment exists to eliminate catastrophic injuries.

"You really can't scan every horse, I know that, but the technology is here, it's real, and it detects small problems that were previously undetectable," Castro said in his Saratoga office the day after New York Thunder died. "I probably shouldn't have written 'not ready for prime time' but every horse moves differently. It's going to take a series of gallops, a series of breezes, a series of jogs to gather enough information to create a fingerprint for that horse. Not until you have a fingerprint on that horse can you tell if anything changes. Or, what if this horse already has a bad PET scan, what good is this fingerprint?

"I believe that at some point StrideSAFE [see October magazine] and other wearable technology will be part of the equation, eyeballs on horses will still be part of the equation, PET scans, biomarkers . . . all of it is part of the equation."

But he believes in the capabilities of PET and isn't alone.

Short for positron emission tomography, a PET scan uses an injected radioactive isotope or tracer to create an image. Used in humans to detect cancers and other diseases, the tracer collects in areas of the body with higher levels of metabolic or biomechanical activity to create an image that can pinpoint the location of injury or disease earlier than X-rays, computerized tomography (CT) and magnetic resonance imaging (MRI) scans. While it can be used for soft-tissue scanning of tendons and ligaments, PET in horses has proven most valuable in diagnosing issues within bones.

"The PET scan can detect metabolic changes in the bone," Castro said. "A bone is a living, moving organ that's constantly turning over, especially in a young animal. Some of that's normal and some of it is needed, but when you take that knife's-edge balance and shift it one way, it can cause a fracture. It doesn't necessarily cause a lameness before that."

Pioneered at the University of California, Davis under the direction of Dr. Mathieu Spriet in 2016, equine PET scanning at first required general anesthesia. The invention of a standing

> "Just because a horse has a spot on the PET scan doesn't mean that area is at risk of a fracture. It's more nuanced than that. We follow the PET scan with a CT and that shows us very good detail of the bones of the horse's fetlock" version by the Rockville, Md.-based LONGMILE Veterinary Imaging expanded practical use of the technology since horses now only need to be lightly sedated and can remain standing. UC Davis veterinarians began using a LONGMILE MILE-PET scanner at Santa Anita Park in 2019 and facilities have since been installed in California, Kentucky, Florida and other locations with more in the works. Regionally, the University of Pennsylvania's New Bolton Center PET scanner has been in use since June 2020. LONGMILE was founded by Brain Biosciences, which develops and manufactures portable brain imaging devices for the study of Alzheimer's disease, Parkinson's disease, dementia and other disorders in human medicine.

> – Dr. Kate Bills, New Bolton Center

At each equine PET location, the technology has helped veterinarians diagnose issues and potential issues while also contributing to longer-term research, expanding the knowledge base of veterinarians and creating new uses for the technology.

At New Bolton, a horse arrives the day of the scan (sometimes the night before), gets a catheter placed by the nursing staff, undergoes a physical examination and is given a light sedative and the isotope by injection. Forty-five minutes later, in a special building regulated to house radioactive animals (like a nuclear medicine facility at a human hospital), the scan – typically of the fetlock – takes place.

"All the horse has to do is stand there for three to four minutes," said Dr. Kate Bills, associate professor of clinical large animal diagnostic imaging at New Bolton. "The scanner is mobile and we're able to park it next to the horse and there's a ring that goes around the horse's leg."

A breakaway feature to the ring eliminates the risk of injury to the horse or damage to the machine, which can have a $600,000 price tag. The isotope clears the horse's system in a few hours and the horse is typically free to return to its barn the same day, sometimes the next morning. New Bolton usually scans both legs as part of a $1,300 fee (less if combined with a CT scan), and the PET scan is frequently combined with a CT scan to help further evaluation.

"The images come up on a server and you can get a basic idea what's going on in that capacity, but more typically we use special software to analyze the image," Bills said. "PET is pretty nice, it's more obvious what the problem is because it lights up. The PET tells you what areas are very active; we call it active turnover. Sometimes it means the horse has a fracture, sometimes it means it has a bone bruise."

Sometimes, it means something more subtle but that's all part of the process too.

"Just because a horse has a spot on the PET scan doesn't mean that area is at risk of a fracture," said Bills. "It's more nuanced than that. We follow the PET scan with a CT and that shows us very good detail of the bones of the horse's fetlock. A lesion could be causing lameness. Other times a lesion could be a high-risk lesion even if the horse isn't lame."

In most cases, a horse gets sent for a PET scan because of a problem. A trainer or veterinarian can't find the reason for a lameness or a sub-par performance. A fitness level won't progress or doesn't compare to the horse's performance to the past. Is it a minor problem that will work itself out? Is it bone-bruising that requires some rest? Is it something that only shows up after a race or breeze on a hard track? Or is it a budding fracture?

"We participated in a study where we looked at successfully racing horses, and many had quite abnormal uptake," Bills said. "There was no corresponding lesion on the CT which would suggest a catastrophic injury or even a major problem, but eight or nine months after the preliminary PET scan they ended up with lesions or they were lame in the exact spot the PET scan indicated."

The same study found two (of 25) horses with incomplete fractures that were potential catastrophic injuries.

NEW BOLTON CENTER

A horse goes through a PET scan of its ankle at the University of Pennsylvania's New Bolton Center.

"Tons of research still needs to be done," said Bills. "We can say, 'This horse is remodeling its bones differently; you may want to try something different.' We'd love to avoid having them stop training all together, but maybe they back off the intensity, stay off a certain surface, change something."

Trainer Phil Bauer, based in Kentucky and New York, called the PET scan another tool to evaluate horses.

"We've had situations where we've gotten the green light to go on and we've gotten results saying, 'Good job, you prevented something further from happening and maybe ruining a career,' " he said. "You have the nuclear bone scan which is an overall view, but the PET is so pinpoint and accurate that they seem to have a good comfort zone with findings and being able to give you some information based on their experience."

Bauer's experience came at Churchill Downs. At Saratoga this summer, there was no such easy option for his horses as the closest PET scanner to New York racetracks is at New Bolton.

"It boils down to the accessibility of it," he said. "Luckily at Churchill it's right there. You can get answers. You send your horse over in the morning and pick it up that afternoon. You have to do your due diligence with your general vet at the barn as to what you're seeing. We all use our horsemanship skills, but sometimes it comes down to, are you going to guess or not? I fortunately am in a situation where my owner [Rigney Racing] says, 'By all means do it. Whatever you think is necessary. Do it so we know.' "

A More Proactive Future

As a response to a lameness or other development, PET scans make sense for trainers and will continue to gain acceptance as access expands. But the future could point to other uses, as a regulatory screening tool, for research and in conjunction with stride analysis and biomarkers.

New York, California and other states have added stricter veterinary protocols for races, workouts, even entry time, and the Horseracing Integrity and Safety Authority continues to work on national protocols as well. Many involve hands-on examinations and expanded paperwork for trainers and veterinarians.

PET scan images can be fused with CT images to create a more detailed view of potential problems.

Technology – via advanced imaging such as PET – could become part of the system, especially given the added spotlight on racing's safety record from critics.

"We hear the statements about a horse taking a bad step and the injury gets blamed on the track surface, but we know pretty well now that when they get catastrophic injuries there was something exacerbating that or underlying lesions that hadn't been diagnosed," said Bills. "It can take months for those lesions to fully develop."

A PET scan can find those lesions.

"Nobody ever sends a sound horse to a PET scan," Castro said. "I've never sent a sound horse to a PET scan, but I would love to. It's sensitive enough that you don't have to do it at entry time. The value of it is long before entry time."

Asked what he might do if he were handed the keys to a PET scanner and the decision-making clout to put something in place in a screening capacity, Castro dove in.

"How would I use it? First, I'd be nervous because I've been opening my mouth, but then I would pick a race. Scan all the horses in that race, before the race," he said. "Because a lesion can be picked up way ahead of time, you don't have to do it at entry time. Get scans 30 days out and 14 days out. Create a PET passport for horses."

As a private veterinarian with owners and trainers as clients, Castro wouldn't do the scans or read the images. But somebody in a regulatory capacity would.

"You're either going to get a green flag – this horse is OK to keep going – or you're going to say this horse has a major problem and we're recommending you stop with this horse, or there's the in-between horse. The 30-day scan shows something that might be a problem. Now what? Well, we'll scan it in two more weeks and if there's a trend, we'll go either direction."

It's not that simple, nothing in racing is, and Castro would be prepared for pushback from racing offices, trainers, owners and others surely. Cost – of the machines, the specialized buildings, personnel, maintenance and so on – would be a factor. So would the sheer practicality of it.

But Castro, part of the American Association of Equine Practitioners On Call program where a veterinarian explains an equine injury live on television, and others would rather work to reduce catastrophic injuries than detour around logistical roadblocks. At Churchill Downs this spring, the meet was suspended and moved to Ellis Park in response to a spate of breakdowns. At Saratoga this summer, there was talk about stopping the meet early. At racetracks everywhere, there continues to be angst over potential fallout from a high-profile injury.

STANDING AT WYNOAKS FARM

Maryland company creates PET scanner business

In 2015, veterinary researchers at the University of California, Davis invited Maryland company Brain Biosciences to use its human-medicine scanner on dogs which had been diagnosed with brain cancer.

Davis professor Dr. Mathieu Spriet, a research veterinarian focused on horses, saw the presentation and posed a question to company CEO David Beylin.

"He told us he wanted to scan a horse and we said that the horse would not fit," said Beylin, a board-certified medical physicist with a master's in business administration from the University of Maryland. "He said he didn't want to scan the whole horse and we still said that even a horse's head was too big."

Then Spriet clarified. He wanted to try the scanner, used in clinical and pre-clinical research of the human brain, on horses' limbs.

With an, "Oh, tell us more," Beylin jumped at the idea and six horses were scanned under general anesthesia that year. Over the next three years, at its production facility in Rockville and through Spriet's work at UC Davis, Brain Biosciences founded a subsidiary called LONGMILE Veterinary Imaging and constructed a safe, effective equine PET scanner. Horses can be scanned while standing and only lightly sedated, ushering in a new level of advanced imaging for veterinarians and owners/trainers.

LONGMILE has installed PET scanners at UC Davis, Santa Anita Park racetrack, the University of Pennsylvania's New Bolton Center, Churchill Downs racetrack and Florida horse centers Ocala and Wellington. Last month, LONGMILE upgraded New Bolton's machine and installed another for Racing Victoria in Australia with additional clients on the horizon.

None of it was planned.

"Dr. Spriet should take the credit for the idea," said Beylin, who also thanked Craig Fravel (then with the Breeders' Cup) for helping secure funding to install a machine at Santa Anita. "Our job was to get convinced that something like this needed to be done and then see if we could do it. It's a very small market, but we're glad we did it. We didn't know about this community before it got to this, but we really enjoy working with the horsemen and the veterinarians."

To operate, a PET scanner must encircle whatever it scans. In humans, that's relatively simple. With horses, not so much. LONGMILE created a scanning ring that opens – meaning it could be placed around a horse's leg, closed for the actual scan and then opened again when the process was finished. A breakaway feature ensures equine safety, opening the ring if a horse moves against it. Beylin called that key, even if his knowledge of horses was limited to watching his daughters take pony rides.

"We had to understand what the horses do and don't do," he said. "It took some learning. When we started, it was under anesthesia. Over time it became clear that that's not the way to do it. The key thing was to design a machine that opens when the horse wants to get out and opens safely."

The machine weighs 400 pounds, heavy enough to withstand a direct kick from a hind leg (without damaging the leg or the machine) and is moved via remote control. The newest models include software that corrects for movement by the horse – because even a sedated horse can move. Veterinarians have progressed beyond the fetlock, scanning higher to obtain images of knees and hocks and also using PET to scan hooves and as part of laminitis research.

LONGMILE sees PET use expanding, and hopes to be part of the future – for the sake of its business and more.

"The goal here is to help the horse, and we're already helping prevent the breakdowns. That is a critical part, but overall there are so many issues and potential injuries in a horse limb that can be addressed by PET that it's becoming a general veterinary tool," said Beylin. "There are different ways to approach a business, and one way is to make something people truly need. Our personal preference is to create something people truly need, and in this case it's something horses and people truly need."

"It has to be multi-pronged because it's multi-factorial. Everything else matters too, but a PET scan is one more tool and we should use it more."

– Dr. Luis Castro, about using PET scanners to help keep horses safer

"Sadly, it's been reactive instead of proactive," Castro said of industry responses. "The animals are dying. They're worried about the animals, but the truth of the matter is they're worried about the money and the business. The focus is skewed. If you protect the horse, you'll protect your money and your business. Go to any track, with a magic wand, and say, 'We'll have no more breakdowns, ever again, but it's going to cost you some number.' My guess is that we write the check."

Castro was clear to point out that PET scanners won't remove all risk of inury, just that they can be part of many steps toward as safer sport.

Factors that impact equine health are as many and as varied as the horses themselves, and Castro isn't saying money will cross them all off a list. He's saying money shouldn't be an obstacle. He blames clusters of breakdowns at specific racetracks – at Saratoga this summer for example – at least partly on rain. Slam a continued pattern of rainy weather into tracks that get sealed and unsealed for racing and training for two months and you create conditions for injuries.

PET scans can't do anything about the weather, but might help prevent horses running on tracks impacted by weather.

"What do you do? Roll the dice? Or do you identify the horses that might be at risk running on that kind of track?" Castro asked. "What if you have a horse with an underlying pre-existing condition that's undetectable, that a PET scan may have helped you catch? That's the one that shouldn't breeze or run on a wet track."

In October, the AAEP published a series of safety recommendations with the goal of complementing the risk-assessment processes in place. The nine recommendations stem from the inaugural Forum on Thoroughbred Safety and Injury Prevention in late September in Lexington, Ky. The meeting convened 23 invited private racetrack practitioners, regulatory veterinarians, surgeons and radiologists to explore additional measures to reduce racehorse injuries.

The forum focused on examination of injury data trends from U.S. and international racing jurisdictions, and exploration of new technologies and their potential use for identifying horses at risk for injury.

Among the recommendations were additional PET scan centers at racetracks and expanded use of wearable technology.

"The forum was born out of our desire to help the racing industry at this critical moment for the sport and offer our veterinary expertise to further prevent racehorse injury," said Dr. Sara Langsam, AAEP Racing Committee chair and a co-worker of Castro's, in a press release. "Our group believes additional progress comes through identifying the at-risk racehorse that appears outwardly sound but is silently brewing a significant injury. We are hopeful our recommendations will help the racing industry conquer this next frontier of Thoroughbred racehorse safety."

Conclusions also involved additional use of trainer and injury data, continuing education programs for trainers and veterinarians, updated track maintenance and analysis equipment, improved barn surveillance capabilities and additional pre-race and pre-entry screening by regulatory and private veterinarians.

A month before that AAEP forum, and a day after his Twitter post received 17,400 views, Castro brought up many of the same things and hinted at the challenge racing faces.

"It has to be multi-pronged because it's multi-factorial," he said. "Everything else matters too, but a PET scan is one more tool and we should use it more." ■

Virginia has lots of ways to play

Virginia Breeders

NEW Beginning in with foals of 2024, Virginia breeders will earn bonuses for registered Virginia-breds finishing 1st through 3rd in open races in North America (state-bred and state-sired races are excluded except at Colonial Downs and NSA sanctioned meets in Virginia*). Foals must be dropped in Virginia and the foal's dam must reside in Virginia from September 1st, 2023, until foaling the following year. Mares purchased at public sale after September 1st may enter the program if they arrive at a Virginia Facility within fifteen days of the purchase date (60 days if purchased outside of the U.S.).

BONUSES PROJECTED AT 30% OF EARNED PURSES

*Pending VA Commission approval

Virginia-Bred/Sired/ Certified Developers

VA-Certified Developers:

Developers of VA-Certified horses earn up to a 25% bonus for open wins in the Mid-Atlantic region (NY, NJ, PA, DE, MD, WV), including NSA-sanctioned meets. VA-Certified Developers earn a 10% bonus for state-bred-restricted races in the Mid-Atlantic region. (Beginning with foals of 2023, bonuses will not be earned for wins in West Virginia).

VA-Bred or Sired Developers:

Beginning with foals of 2021, the developer will earn up to a 25% bonus on wins in the Mid-Atlantic region.

Virginia-Bred/Sired/ Certified Owners

- Owners of VA-bred/sired foals prior to 2021 earn up to a 25% bonus on wins in the Mid-Atlantic region, including NSA-sanctioned meets.
- Owners of VA-bred/sired foals earn a 50% bonus on purses 1st-4th in all open races at Colonial Downs.
- Increased purses for VA-Restricted races at Colonial Downs.
- VA-Restricted stakes and VA-Bred & VA-Sired stakes at Colonial Downs with up to $150,000 purses.
- Certified developer awards are not earned for out-of-state wins during the Colonial Downs race meet

The Steeplechase Times

Building a Boat

NINE-YEAR-OLD NOAH AND THE ARK UPSETS THE GRAND NATIONAL AT FAR HILLS

By Sean Clancy ■ Photographs by Tod Marks

Guy Torsilieri handed Todd McKenna an armful of trophies in the fading light of the biggest steeplechase meet of the year.

"Owner . . . trainer . . . groom . . ." the chairman of the Far Hills Races said.

"I'll never forget, on Fox last year," McKenna said. "They said, 'I'm pretty sure he's the van driver, he's leading the horse up, he's the owner, he's the trainer, I think he pretty much does everything.' "

On Oct. 21 in the hills of Far Hills, N.J., McKenna did everything to perfection. The moonlighting, one-man-band horse trainer, had just pulled off the upset of the year in the $250,000 American Grand National-G1. Keystone Thoroughbreds' Noah And The Ark (Ire) snapped a four-race losing streak with a pristine effort in the 2⅝-mile stakes, the richest and final Grade 1 hurdle race of 2023.

Ridden by Harrison Beswick, the 9-year-old melted away from Hector Soler's flag and jumped the first hurdle in seventh. By the third fence, he had pulled his way into fifth as Irish raiders Seddon (Ire) and Salvador Ziggy (Ire) led through steady fractions on yielding turf. Jimmy P and Snap Decision tracked them. Pulling but manageable, Noah And The Ark made up positive ground throughout the five-turn race to bridge the gap between the foreigners and the Americans.

As Snap Decision, bogged down by the soft ground, pulled up with four hurdles to go, Noah And The Ark powered along the inside. Beswick braced against him, an anchor waiting to be lifted. After the second-last and into the dip, Beswick pumped for an opening inside Seddon. The window slammed closed. Beswick didn't panic and they slid back to fourth as Merry Maker (Ire) swung three wide. Midway on the turn, Beswick asked again and this time the opportunity – and gap – widened. Continuing an inside theft, Noah And The Ark scaled the last fence like a caped crusader and plugged up the hill to vanquish Merry Maker by 5¼ lengths as American-based horses finished first and second. Seddon, an eight-time winner overseas who flew in for Irish trainer John McConnell, finished third after 2⅝ miles in 5:41.28. Strides before the wire, Beswick stood tall in his irons and pumped his whip in one definitive salute. A tribute to a horse who provided the British-born jockey with three wins as an apprentice in England and three stakes wins as a journeyman in America, all while waving a flag for his family's bloodstock business.

Sent off 17-1 in the eight-horse field, Noah And The Ark added his name to a crowded Grade 1 rostrum in 2023 and further clouded a tough Eclipse Award debate. Five horses split the five Grade 1 stakes.

"I'm just glad to get him here," McKenna said. "I knew we were an outside shot; we were second here last year but I still didn't think we belonged. He proved to me that he did belong."

Torsilieri nodded – for the meet, for the sport.

"You belong," he said. "You belong."

Like most jumpers, Noah And The Ark beat a long, well-traveled path to the top. Three trips through the sales ring – €8,000 in 2015, €9,000 in 2017, £20,000 in 2018. Three trainers – Jill Dennis for a point-to-point, Donald McCain for 11 starts over hurdles in the north of England and McKenna for a stop-start, four-year, nine-race career in the United States. Four owners – Dennis early on, Bart Ryan-Beswick for 2018 and part of 2019, Beswick Brothers

Trainer Todd McKenna (left) greets Noah And The Ark and jockey Harrison Beswick after their win in the Grand National at Far Hills.

Bloodstock for two British wins in 2019 and McKenna's Keystone Thoroughbreds since coming to the U.S. in 2020.

With a mild upset in the Carolina Cup in 2021, a shocker in the Grade 1 Lonesome Glory in 2022 and a solid second behind Eclipse Award winner Hewick (Ire) in the Grand National in 2022, there were moments of strength. And skids of mediocrity, including a 16-month layoff and three dull races this year when barn behavior and paddock antics thwarted his chances.

McKenna added Lasix for the first time at Far Hills.

"He was an orangutan at Nashville, an orangutan at Saratoga. I knew putting him on Lasix would help," said McKenna, who notched his 31st career win as a trainer. "They say it's a performance-enhancing drug, and it is, because it calms horses down. And it did. It calmed him down. He didn't rip his stall apart today; I could come over here and talk to people and leave him for a bit. At Nashville, he ripped the stall down. I walked him for six hours before the race."

Noah And The Ark pulled too hard in the Iroquois-G1 at Nashville and wound up fifth behind Scaramanga (Ire), Snap Decision, Scorpion's Revenge (Ire) and Ask Paddington (Ire) while beaten 8¼ lengths. Aimed at a summer campaign, the son of Vinnie Roe (Ire) finished fourth – 13½ lengths behind winner Belfast Banter (Ire) – after dropping Beswick in the paddock in the A.P. Smithwick-G1 in July. Back at Saratoga in August, Noah And The Ark wound up eighth – 20¾ lengths adrift of Awakened – in the Jonathan Sheppard-G1.

McKenna continued an unorthodox training regime, bypassed the Lonesome Glory-G1 at Aqueduct in September, and aimed at the $250,000 Grand National.

"He's some horse. I think the most impressive thing about him is he's the most balanced horse. I've ridden some good ones, Mystic Strike being one," McKenna said of his multiple timber stakes winner. "I had him out hunting last week and the week before, in between works, I just took him out. I'm not first-field hunting, I'm in the back, hanging out. He does this thing, he throws a fit and then he's like, 'OK.' When he does do something stupid, you know he's not going down. Because he's so balanced. He's such a cool horse."

And part of a cool story. In a game of ever-increasing big stables, McKenna is the ultimate little guy, balancing a dry-cleaning supply business and a horse-training hobby. Well, balance isn't always there.

Asked if he had lost faith in Noah And The Ark, the Pennsylvanian went way deeper.

"I've just lost faith in doing what I do," he said. "I have a regular day job, I have a trucking company, I'm constantly torn, 'Am I spending enough time there?' And when I'm at my office, all I'm doing is bookkeeping for the horses and searching and having TVG on and claiming horses. I'm like, 'I should be buying more hangers and plastics and soaps and starch.' Sometimes I struggle with that and there are many times when I'm like, 'This is too much. I shouldn't be doing both. I don't belong doing both.' "

And then an overachieving 9-year-old, who gets turned out with four other horses during the day and comes in at night, who goes on fox hunting jaunts for fun, puts it all together on the sport's biggest stage. The chestnut won for the third time in the U.S., and pushed his American bankroll to $326,000.

"Back to your original question, 'Have I lost faith in him?' " McKenna pondered. "Harry said after Nashville, 'Maybe he's just not the horse we thought he was.' I was like, 'Man, if he doesn't believe in him? Who does?' He tried to bow after the Carolina Cup. Now you're running a horse with old tendons, should you be doing that? There's always a ton of questions. You keep trying. You keep trying. And something comes through. Then you're hooked for a long while."

Championship Chaos

Scaramanga raided America's cupboard with an Iroquois win in May. Belfast Banter (Ire) and Awakened came through in summer stops at Saratoga. Merry Maker delivered on his promise at Aqueduct in September. Noah And The Ark landed the biggest prize of the year. And Snap Decision might be better than all of them.

The top of the hurdle division looked like a bad elementary-school bus line at dismissal time. America's five Grade 1 jump races went to five horses (one Irish-based).

The seasonal earnings leader with $180,000, Merry Maker started the year with a first-level allowance win before finishing with a victory in the Lonesome Glory-G1 and a second to Noah And The Ark in the Grand National. In between, he lost twice (once in novice company) at Saratoga.

Noah And The Ark's $170,500 put him second, but he made $150,000 of that in the Grand National and was no better than fourth in his other three starts (all Grade 1).

Snap Decision won two of five starts, finished second to Scaramanga in the Iroquois and earned $151,500. The wins came in the $100,000 Temple Gwathmey-G2 in April and $75,000 Zeke Ferguson-G2 in October while toting 158 pounds (18 more than the runner-up) and 162 pounds (20), respectively. On the National Steeplechase Association ratings system, his 160 tops the list and is 12 points higher than Noah And The Ark and 17 above Merry Maker. In Grade 1 stakes, Snap Decision lost three times including a pull-up in the Grand National. The only horse on the circuit to win two unrestricted stakes in 2023 rebounded from that to win the Ferguson a week later.

Like Merry Maker, Awakened (fourth on the earnings table at $132,500) started 2023 with conditions. He won an allowance hurdle at Radnor in May, finished second in a Saratoga novice stakes and landed the Sheppard at Saratoga before finishing third to Snap Decision in the Ferguson.

Irish-based Scaramanga earned $120,000 to complete the top five by earnings, but started just once in the U.S. In his only other 2023 races, he finished fourth at England's Cheltenham Festival in March and 13th at Ireland's Galway in July. ■

TOD MARKS

Abaan (left) catches The Hero Next Door over the last en route to victory in the Foxbrook Champion Hurdle at Far Hills.

by Daigneault Thoroughbreds and Eclipse Thoroughbred Partners, the chestnut gelding settled just off the pace in the four-horse field and wore down The Hero Next Door (Ire) to win by 3 lengths.

Trained on the flat by Todd Pletcher, Abaan won four times, including the 2-mile Allen Jerkens at Gulfstream Park in 2021 and the W.L. McKnight-G3 in 2022. Originally owned by Shadwell Stable, Abaan had lost seven in a row, including a 23-length drubbing in the Pan American-G2 at Gulfstream Park April 1.

Suggestions?

Dr. Joe Fowler, an Eclipse partner and a steeplechase advocate, had one.

"I can't take any credit for this venture, it's not anything that I truly have had any interest or desire to do. I've got to give all credit to Dr. Joe Fowler," Eclipse's Aron Wellman said in November. "When Abaan soured on us and we were sort of trying to come up with an idea as how to resuscitate him, Joe mentioned the possibilities of making him a steeplechaser and we decided to give it a shot. Kate has been magnificent to work with from day one and this horse seemed to take to it like a duck to water."

Abaan made his steeplechase debut at Colonial Downs Aug. 11, opening a big lead before getting collared late. A month later, there was no collaring as he trounced eight rivals in another maiden hurdle at Colonial. Kate Dalton circled the novice stakes at Far Hills.

"Kate was intent on going up to Far Hills for the hundred grander. We caught a field that was short on volume but high on quality, it was probably going to be the end of the season for him, so we took our swing for the fences, no pun intended, and he delivered," Wellman said. "We had some partners who were there, to experience it, they were thrilled. Everybody was watching from afar, for it to be televised on Fox that day was super cool, America's Day at the Races. It had more a mainstream feel to it than some of the other steeplechase races we had run him in prior to it."

With a polished effort over yielding ground, Abaan secured the only hurdle win by an American-bred at Far Hills. Bernie Dalton placed Abaan in last behind novice stakes winners The Hero Next Door and Cool Jet (Ire) and Grade 1-placed L'Imperator (Fr). With a circuit to go, Abaan slid inside into third, recovered from a minor mistake at the fourth-last and engaged The Hero Next Door at the second-last. Those two battled around the turn, over the last and up the hill. Abaan resolutely galloped to the line as Dalton gave him three pats on his neck at the wire.

"It's so evident that he's happy doing this. You don't need to be an expert at horse racing, or steeplechase or horses to know that this is a very happy and willing animal doing this job," Wellman said. "We are certainly very fortunate and lucky that our foray into steeplechase has turned out the way it has at this early stage. But it's a microcosm of our belief that when our horses have seen better days on the racetrack to try to do our best to allow them to find happiness doing another job.

Snap Decision (left) flies the water jump just behind West Newton in the Grade 2 Zeke Ferguson at Great Meadow.

His job has just turned out to be going over jumps. It's been eye-opening, it has been fun, our partners have embraced it, it obviously helps big time that he's been successful at it. The steeplechase community has been phenomenal, the hospitality, the communication, everything has exceeded expectations in all respects."

Jumping Around

After being pulled up in the American Grand National-G1 at Far Hills Oct. 21, Snap Decision went right back to work and thumped five foes in the $75,000 Zeke Ferguson Memorial-G2 at Great Meadow in Virginia a week later. Carrying 162 pounds – 12 to 22 more than the others – the 9-year-old stalked West Newton (GB) throughout before taking over on the final turn and seeing out a 3-length win. West Newton (142 pounds) held second with Awakened (150) third.

Trained by Jack Fisher for Bruton Street-US, the 9-year-old halted a three-race losing streak and showcased his credentials while winning for the 13th time in 23 starts over hurdles. Second seven times, he elevated his steeplechase earnings to $794,400 (sixth all-time). Jockey Graham Watters paid credit to his horse, and the firm Virginia turf. Yielding ground at Far Hills didn't suit, from the beginning.

"Going into Far Hills, the horse was in serious form, he was in great order, felt amazing, everything," said Watters. "Just couldn't go in the ground, just couldn't go through it. Cantering to the start, he would normally be super enthusiastic, ears pricked, head up, carrying me down to the start. That day, he couldn't even go through it on the way to the start."

Everything was different a week later.

"Cantering across it, he's skipping across it, pulling my arms out, I was like, 'Today is a different day,' " the jockey said. "Completely different horse. At Far Hills, I couldn't get him to go, horses are passing me that shouldn't be passing me, struggling to lie up after a mile, struggling to jump, he's not carrying me to the jumps, just giving me no feel at all. It was time to pull him up. You go to [Great Meadow], we jump out, myself and West Newton going at it the whole way, he's traveling, jumping, felt like his old self. It's crazy how much the ground can play a part."

Snap Decision opened 2023 with a win in the Temple Gwathmey-G2 in April and finished second to Irish-based Scaramanga (Ire) in the Iroquois-G1. Emphasizing Far Hills, Fisher skipped the summer at Saratoga by design and Snap Decision got off the bench at Aqueduct for the Lonesome Glory-G1. Under 162 pounds, at least 20 more than the three horses in front of him, he finished fourth as Merry Maker (Ire) won with 142.

"I'll lean on the trainer there, that was my fault, but Aqueduct wasn't the goal," Fisher said. "I thought I put him over the top last year from the flat race [in July] to the Sheppard [a Grade 1 jump win in August] to the Aqueduct race [a second while conceding 28 pounds to the winner] and then Far Hills [a dull sixth]. We didn't want to do that to him again, so the idea was to peak for Far Hills and then we got that turf. I thought about scratching him, but we ran."

Fisher told Watters to pull up if things didn't seem right and the jockey obliged, stopping with four fences remaining in the 2⅞-mile race.

"You could tell pretty quickly he wasn't handling the ground," Fisher said. "He wasn't jumping the way he can, wasn't traveling. I was happy he pulled him up. I wasn't happy we ran him."

Fisher didn't hesitate to run back seven days later.

"I love that he came back the next week and ran so well while giving away so much weight," the trainer said. "It was like, 'I'm back. I've got this.' He had a good year. He ran great in the Gwathmey, ran really well in the Iroquois but just couldn't beat one horse who ran better. He beat all the American horses there. Then he came back and ran great the week after Far Hills."

The only horse to win two unrestricted hurdle stakes in 2023, Snap Decision will be back for more in 2024.

"Far Hills was . . . I was thinking that might be the end. He's only 9, but then he goes and does that," Watters said after the Ferguson. "He hasn't lost anything. I started thinking of the Iroquois 2024 straight away."

■ Welcome to America. British import Zabeel Champion (GB) won two fall stakes for Martin Tedham and Wasdell Properties. Trained by Fisher and ridden by Bernie Dalton, the son of Poet's Voice (GB) upset the restricted Appleton Handicap at Far Hills Oct. 21 and came right back two weeks later to win the Grade 2 Noel Laing at Montpelier in Virginia.

The six-time winner on the flat reached a heady 104 mark before joining Jonjo O'Neill's barn in 2021. The bay gelding won three times over hurdles, climbing to a 120 mark before joining Fisher this fall. Sixth in his U.S. debut in a Foxfield handicap for horses rated 120 and below, Zabeel Champion settled and pounced in the Appleton (for 130s and below), rolling to 3½-length win over Fast Vision (Fr) and Redicean (GB). Dalton picked up the ride two days before the stakes when British-based Nick Scholfield opted to stay at home.

"Having ridden earlier in the day, the best of the ground was on the outside. I was drawn out there, so I wasn't in any hurry to get over and get in, so I kept him out on the nicer ground," Dalton said. "He was so funny, every time we'd get down to the bottom of the backside, he'd come back on the bridle and freewheel around again, we'd come up the middle and he'd spit the bit and go back to sleep. Every time. I'm going down the back the last time, I'm thinking 'I hope he does it again.' Sure enough, he did. You're just trying to time your run, so you don't use all your gas up before the last, with that hill, with the way the ground is. He answered every call, God bless him, he was deadly, he gave me a great ride."

Two weeks later, Zabeel Champion took on firm ground, open company and natural hedges in the $75,000 Noel Laing at Montpelier, scoring by 3¼ lengths over Scorpion's Revenge (Ire) and Proven Innocent.

"Hated the ground and still won. That was fun, I knew as soon as we jumped the first, we were in business. He went right through it, I was like, 'We're good,' " Dalton said. "He settles, jumps, travels and kicks. He just lopes along completely relaxed until you ask him and then when you do, game on. I would be thinking Temple Gwathmey, Iroquois, Grand National, those kinds of races next year."

■ Top novices The Hero Next Door and Cool Jet met for the third time in the AFLAC Supreme Hurdle at Callaway Gardens in Georgia Nov. 4. The Irish-breds split their previous clashes; Cool Jet inherited a win when The Hero Next Door fell at the last in the novice stakes at the Iroquois in the spring and The Hero Next Door finished second, 60 lengths in front of Cool Jet in fourth, at Far Hills.

At Callaway, no excuses, no alibis, just two good horses.

Owned by Michael Smith, trained by Leslie Young and ridden by Freddie Procter, The Hero Next Door took up his spot on the front end of the four-horse field. Jumping slickly and galloping relentlessly, he turned away Calico (Fr) early and turned for home in command. Cool Jet, off the pace as opposed to on it at Far Hills, made one swipe at The Hero Next Door, slipping through on the inside to wrestle a 2-length win. Owned by Riverdee Stable, trained by Fisher and ridden by Watters, Cool Jet graduated from the novice ranks with his third hurdle win since coming to the U.S. in 2022.

"I just sat in behind, he traveled away. The leader traveled a lot better up the hill than me, I landed over the last and got down low into him and got him running. Next thing he hit that gear, snuck up the inside and won going away," Watters said. "It rode a really nice race, just four of us, but it was competitive. That's three times he's bumped into The Hero Next Door, who's a nice horse. Things didn't go as planned at Far Hills, but we got the better of him at the Iroquois. If he stayed on his feet, who knows? And we were definitely better this time. I was delighted with him. He jumped great, traveled great, he's straightforward. He skips across good to firm ground. Just a good horse."

Cool Jet and The Hero Next Door – sons of Irish stallion Jet Away – teamed up for four wins and three seconds in nine starts, earning $176,500, in 2023. ■

Getting to Work

Schnell takes development, programming reins at Foundation

By Joe Clancy

In mid-November, a week after being announced as the new director of development and programming for the Maryland Horse Foundation, Jeanne Schnell visited Murmur Farm in Darlington and stopped at a field full of yearlings.

"There were maybe 20 of them and at first none of them would come see us," she said. "One finally came over and I was scratching on him and loving on him, just paying attention to him and the next thing you know they're all there."

That connection, and the opportunity to bring it to more people, is a big reason why she's excited about her new job.

"I've been in the Thoroughbred industry about 11 years, and I am horses first and I'm always trying to get people enthusiastic about our sport and horses in general," she said. "I love community outreach and programming and this is an opportunity to tell everybody why horses are so fantastic."

Schnell grew up in Queens, N.Y., and called herself a casual fan who got interested in the Kentucky Derby and other Triple Crown races each year. As a young girl, she went to Breakfast at Belmont, a fan education program run by the New York Racing Association at Belmont Park. Next came some lessons at a riding stable, where she saw a high-school equestrian team practice. Schnell ultimately enrolled at that school, joined the National FFA Organization (which focuses on agricultural education and careers) and set a goal of working in the industry.

"I wanted to go to vet school, but organic chemistry thwarted that," she said with a laugh. She went to Cornell University, landed an internship in the press office at NYRA, skipped graduation to attend the 2013 Belmont Stakes and ultimately got a master's degree in professional studies (also from Cornell). She has since worked with retired racehorses, held jobs in the NYRA racing and communications departments and was most recently the Thoroughbred aftercare liaison and events manager for 1/ST Racing's Santa Anita Park in California.

Through that post she met former MHF director of development Jordyn Egan, now the executive director of the California Thoroughbred Horsemen's Foundation, and MHBA executive director Cricket Goodall.

"I had spoken to Cricket when I was working for 1/ST at Santa Anita because of the Maryland Horse Breeders BackStop account where breeders are getting involved in aftercare," Schnell said. "That's something near and dear to my heart. We met at Preakness last year and stayed in touch and when I saw the advertisement for this position, I thought it would be a great opportunity."

Schnell and partner Chris Merz, the Maryland Jockey Club's racing secretary for about two years before taking similar roles in California and Minnesota, moved to Reisterstown (a literal mile from the MHBA office) in October. Schnell's duties include spearheading the fundraising efforts for the Maryland Horse Foundation and developing and coordinating programs at the Maryland Horse Library and Education Center. Founded in 1988, the MHF serves various educational needs in the industry including a career program, a work-experience program and an education series. The library and education center, opened about a year ago, serves as a base for that programming while also establishing itself as an anchor site of the Maryland Horse Park system complete with books, special collections, research materials, meeting spaces and exhibits.

"The foundation has been around a number of years and it's well established," said Schnell. "The library and education center has been a passion project for Cricket and Jordyn and I have big shoes to fill following Jordyn. As a culture I think it's important to try to get back to agriculture and nature, and this is going to become a great source for people to do that. The work-experience program and the career program have been monumental. Their success speaks volumes and will help us with our longevity and our success. The more of that we do, the more the community at large recognizes us. We hope there are people out there who will be charitable, but we know we're going to have to prove our value too."

Drawing on her introduction to the industry, Schnell hopes to reach out to city residents and others with little or no exposure to horses. The animals are a big part of the story, she said, but the horse industry's role in agriculture and the economy carry importance too.

"Getting future generations excited about horses, the Thoroughbred world has to be part of what we do," Schnell said. "Sometimes, it's an industry that's not so welcome to newcomers and outsiders and we'd like to think we can do our part to change that."

Ask Jeanne Schnell about her favorite racehorse and the answer arrives like Zenyatta in the stretch. Did somebody mention Zenyatta?

"I know so many people will roll their eyes, but she was instrumental in me saying I really do want to be in this sport. The gritty way she won was part of it, but the bond I saw between her and [jockey] Mike Smith and the other people around her was part of it too. I was so emotionally invested in the human/horse bond.

"I only saw her race once and it was when she lost [second by a head to Blame in the 2010 Breeders' Cup Classic at Churchill Downs in her 20th and final career start]. I was one of those, what, 120,000 fans that witnessed that. It was excruciating because she pulled her groom toward the winner's circle afterward and he had to lead her the other way. It was a gut punch for me, it still is, but I owe a lot to her."

Bandonarun sells for $330,000 at Wanamaker's

Maryland-bred 3-year-old filly Bandonarun sold for $330,000 to Bradley Weisbord, on behalf of Everett Dobson, at the conclusion of the Wanamaker's sale Oct. 26.

A winner of two of three starts since debuting in August, Bandonarun rose to prominence following a first-level allowance win at Laurel Park Oct. 6.

"I am excited to buy her for the Dobson family. We have not bought many for Everett over the years, but we had some early success buying proven runners that went on to win stakes," said Weisbord in a Wanamaker's press release.

Sold by trainer Michael Merryman on behalf of The Orebanks, the daughter of Uncle Lino has improved her Beyer and Ragozin figures with each start.

"The Wanamaker's platform had this filly for offer that had the solid speed figures that I look for," Weisbord said. "She is a pretty filly, so if she classes up and wins stakes, she will be a great addition to his broodmare band. Everett will decide on a trainer."

On buying through the online Wanamaker's platform, Weisbord said, "Liza Hendriks and her team at Wanamaker's made the process seamless. Hopefully, they will continue to bring more good product to the marketplace."

"We are thrilled with the sale of Bandonarun for an impressive $330,000, the second-highest priced horse we have sold," said Hendriks, who co-founded the company in 2020.

Twenty-six horses sold through the site for a gross of $397,750.

Wet My Beak rallies for first stakes win on Breeders' Cup undercard at Santa Anita

Benoit Photo

With a hard-charging rally on the outside, Wet My Beak scored a 24-1 upset in the $150,000 Senator Ken Maddy Stakes on the Breeders' Cup Friday undercard at Santa Anita Park Nov. 3.

The 4-year-old daughter of Union Rags made her stakes debut in the Maddy, and had most recently been a troubled third in a second-level turf allowance at Santa Anita Oct. 6. Prior to that she won a first-level allowance at 5 furlongs, in her turf debut at Del Mar Aug. 31.

The fourth longest shot on the board in the Maddy, on Santa Anita's 6½-furlong downhill turf course, broke well in the field of 11 and rated toward the back under Jose Ortiz. After fractions of :22.18 and :44.05, the field swung for home and Ortiz angled Wet My Beak toward the center of the track for clear sailing.

Wet My Beak remained 2 lengths behind with a furlong to go, but got up in the last few strides to win by a head. Final time over a firm turf course was 1:12.37.

Wet My Beak improved to 3-0-1 from six career starts, for earnings of $176,988. After returning a $70,000 RNA at the 2020 Fasig-Tipton Midlantic fall yearling sale at Timonium, she was campaigned by her breeders, Sycamore Hall Thoroughbreds. Unraced at 2, she finished fifth in her debut in a 7-furlong maiden special weight at Laurel Park April 1, 2022, for trainer Graham Motion. She won next out at 1⅛ miles at Pimlico in a $40,000 maiden claimer (where she was exempt from the tag) May 12. Sixth at Laurel that June, she was purchased by current owners Thelma and Louise Stable and shipped to California to trainer Vladimir Cerin, whom she has raced for since.

Wet My Beak is the second of three foals out of the Speightstown mare Who's in Town, from Sycamore Hall's stakes-producing family tracing back to Who Did It and Run. Who's in Town is also the dam of 3-year-old John Hall (Violence), who races for his breeder and has won twice at Laurel (most recently Oct. 1) for trainer Brittany Russell barn, with earnings of $78,000.

In 13 starts, Who's in Town won four, including the 2014 Safely Kept Stakes, and earned $211,022. Wet My Beak's second dam, Who's Cozy, placed in multiple stakes including a third in Saratoga's Lake George-G3, and has produced seven winners from as many starters, including stakes-placed Campaign Vows (Broken Vow) and Circling the Drain (West Coast).

Wet My Beak's third dam Who Did It and Run (Polish Numbers) won the Jersey Derby-G2 and Reeve Schley Jr. Stakes-G3 in 1998 and earned $325,756. She produced stakes winners Giant Run, American Victory and stakes-placed Stickingtogether. ❧

Spun Glass upsets Woodbine Grade 3

R. Larry Johnson's homebred Spun Glass, trained by Mike Trombetta, won her graded stakes debut at Woodbine near Toronto, Canada, Oct. 14, taking the Ontario Fashion Stakes-G3 by a half-length at 27-1.

Breaking from post four, Spun Glass was behind all but one of her eight rivals as Luis Contreras rated her toward the rail in the early stages of the 6-furlong dash. As they rounded the far turn, off fractions of :22.54 and :44.24, she began to advance, but lacked room at the head of the lane. Contreras angled her into the four path at the three-sixteenths pole and took aim at early leaders Loyalty and defending winner Hazelbrook. Spun Glass struck the front in the final yards and outkicked longer shot Awesome Treat, charging hard to her direct outside, for the victory. The final time over the Tapeta track was 1:08.64, the race's second-fastest running in 15 years; the $1 exacta paid $529.60.

It is the first victory for Spun Glass in more than a year, a span of 10 races since last year's Camptown Stakes at Colonial Downs. She was stakes-placed three times this season, with seconds in the Jameela at Laurel in July and Camptown in September, and a third in Pimlico's The Very One in May. The win improved her 2023 record to 1-2-1 from seven starts, with earnings of $123,420. Lifetime, she's 7-3-4 from 28 starts, with a bankroll of $410,619.

The daughter of Hard Spun is out of Johnson's stakes-placed homebred mare Allwewantforxmas, who has produced four winners from as many starters. In addition to Spun Glass, Allwewantforxmas is the dam stakes-placed Xmas Surprise (More Than Ready), along with winners Xmasinthecity (City Zip) and A Lot Like Xmas (More Than Ready).

Allwewantforxmas' Virginia-bred Gun Runner filly sold for $325,000 at this year's Keeneland September yearling sale; her most recent foal is a colt by Caravaggio born May 5. She was bred to Johnson's first-year Maryland-based sire True Valour (Ire) for 2024. ❧

Great Notion passes $5 million in progeny earnings in 2023

When Maryland-bred 2-year-old Speedyness crossed the wire first in Laurel Park's eighth race, a first-level allowance/optional claimer, Oct. 29, it marked a milestone for his sire, Northview Stallion Station's Great Notion.

He surpassed $5 million in progeny earnings for the season. It's the first time he's eclipsed that mark in a year, and the first time any Maryland stallion has surpassed $5 million since 2009, when Not For Love's runners amassed $6,117,580 (the record for a Maryland stallion is $6,418,670 set by Not For Love in 2008).

Speedyness, a homebred for trainer Jamie Ness, was one of two Great Notion juvenile winners on the card, as Notion of Love captured the 10th race for Kathleen Willier and trainer Hamilton Smith.

A 23-year-old son of Elusive Quality, Great Notion entered stud at Northview in 2005 after racing at the Grade 1 level as a sprinter. Known for precocious, speedy runners who run equally well on turf and dirt, he had his first $1 million season in 2010 (with three crops to race). His progeny earnings exceeded $3 million for the first time in 2018, the same year he vaulted to the top of Maryland's general sires list, where he has remained. Through Nov. 15, his 2023 runners have earned nearly $2 million more than the second-ranked stallion in the region.

Great Notion's seven black-type winners in 2023 are led by Coastal Mission, a winner of three stakes including the $300,000 Sam Huff West Virginia Breeders Classic at Charles Town. The list includes three-time stakes winner Twisted Ride, third in the Bold Ruler-G3 at Aqueduct Oct. 27; Maryland Million Turf Sprint winner Witty; and 2022 Maryland-bred Horse of the Year Fille d'Esprit, who returned to win the What A Summer Stakes and finish second in the Barbara Fritchie-G3 at Laurel this year.

From 16 crops of racing age, Great Notion has had 77 percent starters from foals (423/546), 77 percent winners from starters (324/423) and lifetime progeny earnings of $37.6 million. The sire of a stakes winner in every crop through his current 3-year-olds, he has sired 44 in all through mid-November. He's had a pair of graded stakes winners in Havelock, a five-time graded winner, and Ruby Notion, winner of the 2018 Kentucky Downs Ladies Sprint-G3 in course record time. His leading earners are Anna's Bandit, an 11-time stakes winner and earner of $806,655; and Fille d'Esprit, a winner of 15 of 28 starts for $780,911. ❧

Jockey Club releases 2023 Report of Mares Bred statistics

The Jockey Club's release of the Report of Mares Bred statistics for the 2023 breeding season show Maryland sixth among states and provinces, with 566 mares bred by 25 stallions.

Maryland stallions averaged 22.64 mares, fourth behind Kentucky, New York and Florida. Murmur Farm's Blofeld once again led the way, covering 97 mares in 2023. He ranks sixth among Maryland stallions by progeny earnings this year with nearly $1.9 million (as of Oct. 27), and 10th by winners (27) with three crops to race. He picked up his third Maryland Million winner Oct. 14, when Miss Harriett won the Lassie. He's also the sire of 2023 stakes winners Alpine Mist and Beach Daze, along with graded stakes-placed Fletcher.

Northview stallions Engage (83), Uncle Lino (48), Golden Lad (37) and Great Notion (35) rounded out the Maryland top five.

Based on RMBs received through Oct. 18, The Jockey Club reports that 867 stallions covered 26,597 mares in North America during 2023. It is estimated that an additional 2,500 to 3,500 mares will be reported as bred during the 2023 breeding season.

RMB statistics for all reported stallions in 2023 are available in the Fact Book section of jockeyclub.com.

For $14,000, Jersey breeders bought a "Dream Come True"

by Bill Finley

New Jersey-based breeder Greg Kilka knew the odds were not in his favor when he arrived at the 2020 Keeneland January Sale. A small-time owner and breeder with a modest budget, what chance did he have of coming home with a horse that could be life-changing? He was playing the lottery.

"I didn't have unlimited resources," he said.

What he did have was $14,000, what it cost to buy an unraced mare named Adorabella (Ghostzapper) in foal to Fast Anna (Medaglia d'Oro). It was the only horse he bought at the sale.

Fast forward some three years later and Adorabella's first two foals are both stakes winners and her third, a yearling colt by Classic Empire, sold for $135,000 at the Fasig-Tipton Midlantic Fall Yearling Sale. All three are New Jersey-breds.

She is currently in foal to Medaglia d'Oro.

"People may think we're overnight successes," Kilka said. "But my wife and I have been putting money into the sport for some 15 years. But never have we had anything like this."

Kilka arrived at the sale with bloodstock agent Chris Gracie. They looked at dozens of horses, hoping to find that diamond in the rough that everyone else misses. Hip 945 caught their attention. There wasn't a lot to go on. She was bred by Tracy Farmer but never made it to the races. Her dam, Alydorable (Arch) was 1-for-6 during her brief career and finished third in the Revidere S.

"Physically, she was beautiful," Kilka said. "There was nothing we could see that was wrong with her when we purchased her. Chris went through a lot of mares on my behalf. He liked this one physically and thought she could be a productive broodmare. Looking at her family, he thought there was some upside."

Kilka said he had no idea why Adorabella had never raced. It turns out she had the type of niggling problems that keep a lot of horses from making it to the races.

According to Joe Miller, who helped manage the racing and breeding operations of Tracy Farmer, Adorabella was sent to Mark Casse to prepare for her debut but came down with some ankle issues.

"We felt like we'd be better off breeding her because she was going to struggle to make it to the races," Miller said. "Now I feel embarrassed that we sold her. Fortunately, Tracy still has the rest of the family. He's pressing on with the family, so, hopefully, they'll keep breeding stakes winners out of Adorabella."

Kilka teamed up with Christine Connelly of Bright View Farm and they are the co-breeders of the Fast Anna foal, which they decided to sell at auction. Named Girl Trouble, the filly sold for a mere $15,000 at the 2021 Fasig-Tipton Midlantic Fall Yearling Sale. The buyers were Swilcan Stable LLC and LC Racing and they turned her over to top Mid-Atlantic trainer Butch Reid. She's gone 5-for-13 and has won two stakes, both at Parx, the Future Stars Filly Division at 2 and the Parx Futurity at 3.

Kilka and Connelly were off to a fast start with Adorabella, but it would only get better.

Kilka had been part of a partnership that raced Bucchero (Kantharos) and was eager to give the stallion a try. He didn't know at the time that Bucchero would become a rising star among stallions. From his first two crops to race, he's had 61 percent winners to starters, second only to Army Mule and ahead of horses like Justify and Good Magic. He's had nine total stakes horses from modest books of mares.

"I probably wouldn't have been shrewd enough to breed her to Bucchero, who is off to a phenomenal start as a stallion," Miller said. "More power to them. They've done a great job managing her."

The mating of Bucchero and Adorabella produced Book'em Danno (Bucchero), named for Steve McGarrett's go-to closing line in the old Hawaii Five-O series. This time Kilka and Connelly decided to sell the foal privately and he was purchased by Atlantic Six Racing LLC., which is comprised of a group of friends who are residents of the Jersey Shore.

Trained by Derek Ryan, Book'em Danno broke his maiden Aug. 12 at Monmouth, besting a field of Jersey-breds by 9½ lengths. Believing his horse was ready for a tougher challenge, Ryan entered him back against open company in the Smoke Glacken Stakes Sept. 9 at Monmouth, which he won by 2 lengths.

That had the connections thinking Breeders' Cup and they wheeled Book'em Danno back in the Oct. 8 Futurity at Belmont At The Big A for what was to be his turf debut. The race was a "Win and You're In" for the Grade 1 Breeders' Cup Juvenile Turf Sprint, but things took a wrong turn when the race was rained off the grass.

That didn't prove to be a problem on the racetrack as Book'em Danno dominated, winning by 6½ lengths. But because the race came off the turf it was no longer a "Win and You're In" race, so "Danno" did not head to Santa Anita. It was also downgraded from a Grade 3 to a listed race.

"Maybe that was a blessing in disguise," Ryan said. "The Breeders' Cup race is at 5 furlongs and that might be too short for him."

"We plan to stretch him out now," Ryan said, with the next start the Nov. 5 Nashua Stakes, run on the dirt at 1 mile at Aqueduct.

"It's a one-turn mile and I don't think that will give him any trouble. He'll handle the distance. He's a very laid-back horse. He switches himself off and then when you call on him he's there. I'd like to try him on the grass at some point. He's bred for it. I think if that race stayed on the grass the result would have been the same."

Ryan said the Nashua would be the gelding's last start of the year. He will then ship to Tampa Bay Downs and gear up for his 3-year-old campaign.

For Kilka and Connelly, the best should be yet to come. The $135,000 they picked up when selling the Classic Empire—Adorabella foal was their first real payday. (The yearling was bought by the same connections that own Girl Trouble). Especially if Book'em Danno continues to flourish, the foal by Medaglia d'Oro should sell well. Kilka said that going forward, Adorabella will be bred only to top-tier stallions, ones like Medaglia d'Oro. (Update: Adorabella sold to LC Racing for $550,000 at Fasig-Tipton Kentucky's Fall Mixed sale).

So, what did Kilka really get for his $14,000?

"A dream come true," he said. "An absolute dream."

Book'em Danno wins Grade 3 Futurity Stakes

Atlantic Six Racing's Book'em Danno posted his third consecutive victory in an off-the-turf running of the Grade 3 Futurity Stakes, which was contested at 6 furlongs on the main track after it was originally slated for the same distance on the outer turf, at Belmont at the Big A Oct. 8.

Trained by Derek Ryan, the son of Bucchero entered from a successful stakes debut in the Smoke Glacken Sept. 9 at Monmouth Park and remained undefeated through three lifetime outings that began with a debut score in August at the Jersey Shore oval.

Ryan said he was not deterred by the race moving to the dirt, a surface the dark bay gelding has won each of his races on.

"It doesn't really hurt that it came off," said Ryan. "I'm not disappointed that it came off, we'll try the turf down the road."

Book'em Danno emerged from the outermost post 5 under Jose Ortiz while Ruddy Buddy stumbled badly to his inside and trailed the field as Works for Me broke sharpest of all and led through an opening quarter-mile in :22.09 over the fast main track.

Book'em Danno tracked in fourth down the backstretch under patient handling from Ortiz as Jimmythetooth kept close watch in second and was nudged along by Manny Franco approaching the turn. Book'em Danno advanced with purpose from his stalking position and was swung three-wide by Ortiz to make his bid for the front as Works for Me clocked the half-mile in :45.27.

Works for Me turned back the brief challenge from Jimmythetooth exiting the turn, but was left to deal with a looming Book'em Danno as Ortiz gave left-handed encouragement and Where's Chris kicked into gear from 15 lengths off the pace. Book'em Danno proved too much for his rivals and swept past Works for Me with ease approaching the sixteenth marker to draw off to the 6½-length triumph in a final time of 1:09.47.

Ryan compared Book'em Danno's potential versatility to that of his multiple graded stakes winner Musket Man, who won his first two starts at 6 furlongs ahead of a stretch-out when taking the 7-furlong Pasco and a pair of graded dirt route scores before finishing third in the 2009 Grade 1 Kentucky Derby.

"He's very versatile. You can sit or do whatever you want with him," said Ryan. "He'll go as far as I want him to go. I had a horse a few years ago – Musket Man – and everyone told me [about stretching out], 'he's 6 furlongs, he can't do that.' You train them to do whatever you want."

Ortiz, who rode Book'em Danno for the first time in the afternoon, said the pace scenario worked out well.

"He broke well and I had a good trip. Two horses went to the front and I was just stalking them from off the pace," said Ortiz. "When I asked him to go, he responded very well.

"I rode him like much the best and he was much the best," Ortiz continued. "I worked him in the morning and he showed in the morning that he's a good horse. I was very confident. I got a great post today and he just responded very well for me when I asked him. He's a nice horse."

COGLIANESE PHOTOS/NYRA

Ryan added Book'em Danno could come under consideration for the one-mile $150,000 Nashua Nov. 5 at the Big A (he set the pace before giving way late to finish second).

"We'll see what we're going to do with him. We might try the Nashua, but I don't like to over-run a young 2-year-old," said Ryan. "Next year is a long year. I might be tempted to go a little further, who knows."

Bred in New Jersey by Gregory J. Kilka and Bright View Farm, Book'em Danno is a half-brother to multiple dirt stakes winner Girl Trouble and banked $82,500 in victory.

Grade 1 winner Max Player to stand in New Jersey

Max Player, winner of the 2021 Jockey Club Gold Cup-G1, has arrived at Annestes Farms in Middletown, where he will stand the 2024 breeding season. The 6-year-old son of Honor Code has over 700 investors who own shares of the dark bay colt.

"After an impressive career on the racetrack, we are excited about his prospects as a sire," said majority owner George Hall of Rumson. Hall, a lifetime patron of Monmouth Park Racetrack, hopes Max Player can enhance the options for New Jersey Breeders. The owner of 2011 Belmont Stakes-G1 winner Ruler On Ice also has a successful track record of breeding horses on his farm in Versailles, Ky., including Pants On Fire, Snapper Sinclair and Max Player among others, and hopes to achieve similar success in New Jersey for the benefit of Max's investors while at the same time advancing the progress of New Jersey breeding for years to come.

Max Player is the only horse of his generation to compete in all three Triple Crown races, finishing third in the Belmont, and fifth in the Derby and Preakness. He also placed third in the Travers Stakes. Wins in the Grade 2 Suburban and the aforementioned Jockey Club Gold Cup earned Max Player an all-expenses paid trip to the Breeders Cup Classic-G1 in 2021.

Mia's Crusade wins third stakes in Pinot Grigio

Joseph and Gayle Ioia and Chuck Spina's Mia's Crusade took advantage of an early stalking trip and then took control at the sixteenth pole to score a half-length victory in the $65,000 Pinot Grigio Handicap during the Monmouth-at-Meadowlands meet Oct. 6 – the 4-year-old filly's third win in Jersey-bred stakes company this year.

Trained by Spina and ridden by Jomar Torres, Mia's Crusade tracked early speedster Amazing Graces Joy through an opening quarter of :22.64 before Torres urged her to draw even with the leader in a :46.15 half. Mia's Crusade surged past a stubborn Amazing Graces Joy in deep stretch and then had enough in reserve to hold off the late charge of longshot Sadie Baby, who rallied for second. Amazing Graces Joy finished three-quarters of a length back in third.

The winning time for the 5 furlongs over a turf course listed as good was :58.21.

Mia's Crusade, a daughter of Greenpointcrusader, improved to 6-2-2 from 16 career starts, including 3-for-5 this year. She previously won the Eleven North and Spruce Fir Handicaps, both during the Monmouth Park meet. The victory was the first in three grass tries for Mia's Crusade, who paid $6.80 to win.

Bred by Dianne Boyken, Mia's Crusade is the only starter for Boyken-bred Mini Moneigh (by Mo Mon), a full sister to stakes winners Moneigh Lisa and Loving Dove.

Precious Avary goes the distance in $125,000 Maryland Million Ladies

Smith Farm & Stable's homebred Precious Avary, racing for just the third time on grass and first beyond a mile on any surface, got out to an easy lead and had enough left to hold off a late charge from Naval Empire to kick off the Maryland Million Day stakes action with a front-running three-quarter-length triumph in the $125,000 Ladies at Laurel Oct. 14.

Ridden by Silvestre Gonzalez for Parx-based trainer Tim Shaw, Precious Avary ($8.60) completed 1⅛ miles in 1:49.53 over a firm Exceller turf course. It was the second turf stakes win for the 3-year-old daughter of 2015 Preakness-G1 third-place finisher Divining Rod, following a gate-to-wire triumph in the 1-mile Jersey Girl Handicap July 8 at Monmouth Park.

Gonzalez immediately put Precious Avary on the lead from her rail post and she was unpressured through a quarter-mile in :24.78 tracked by Golden Heart and Naval Empire on the inside, while defending Ladies champion Coconut Cake ranged up into third on the outside after the half went in :50.58.

Precious Avary continued to lead into the stretch as Naval Empire inched closer along the rail but was unable to get past the determined winner, who encountered trouble finishing seventh in last year's Maryland Million Lassie on the dirt. She has now won all three of her grass starts, dating back to a maiden triumph last fall at The Meadowlands.

"I knew if she ran similar on the lead at Monmouth she would be tough today," Gonzalez said. "She broke sharp with her ears perked and was happy. I was thinking she'd sit second as there might be speed from the outside, but she went on. Around the turn I asked her for run and she went about her business."

It was the first Maryland Million win for both Gonzalez and Shaw.

Precious Avary is a third-generation homebred for Stanton J. Smith Jr.'s Smith Farm & Stable. He purchased her third dam Run Tan Tan for $11,000 at the 1989 Keeneland November and saw her produce six winners for the stable, including the Lord Avie filly Avary Run, who in turn is the dam of nine winners from nine foals. Avary Run's daughter Alytania (by Mutakddim) earned $117,110 – her best runner is Precious Avary, who has a record of 5-2-1 from 14 starts, and total earnings of $274,448 ($227,793 earned this year).

President's message

Congratulations to Bill Thompson, Nancy Shuford and Beth Muirhead for their horses reaching the winners' circle. Also, credit goes to all those whose horses made it to the track.

So, it's time to renew your memberships for 2024. Your support is keeping the organization going.

We expect Hartful Hope (NC) to be featured in an upcoming magazine. A reporter contacted her connections, Art Bauer and Gerard Eckhardt of Jimmer Racing, and me for comments about the North Carolina-bred filly and her success on the track. Fingers crossed she continues her winning form.

Board member Elizabeth Houck moved to Georgia and resigned from her position. I'm sure you all join me in wishing her well, and I appreciate all her help with the NCTA. Her position needs to be to be filled. Please, someone, step forward to be a board member.

Once again, thank you for all your support.

Race Review

Sonic Star, by Into Mischief out of Carolina Bertie, by Speightstown, won for breeder Nancy Shuford at Hanshin Racecourse in Japan Sept. 26. The 2-year-old dark bay colt, a $300,000 Keeneland September sales yearling, broke his maiden first time out in an 1800 m (9 furlongs), 7.2M Yen ($93,000) Newcomer's race (MSW). Carolina Bertie is a half-sister to three-time Grade 1 winner Beach Patrol, also bred by Nancy Shuford. Beach Patrol stands at stud in Japan and has over 45 winners in his first two crops.

Happy Boy Rocket, by Runhappy out of Bible Belt, by Pulpit, won for breeder Bill Thompson at Remington Park Sept. 30. The 4-year-old dark bay colt ran 7 furlongs in 1:25.12 on a fast track. Happy Boy Rocket settled early, made a five-wide move around the turn, and drew off in the upper stretch, winning by 1½ lengths.

Antenna, by Munnings out of Harkness, by Harlan's Holiday, won for breeder Bill Thompson at Belmont at the Big A Oct. 14. The 2-year-old dark bay filly broke her maiden in her third start, going sev-7en furlongs in 1.25.71 on a muddy, sealed track in the rain. She broke fast and set the pace throughout, winning by 1 length. The filly was a $300,000 Keeneland September sales yearling.

Sag Harbor, by Palace out of Dynamite Dame, by El Prado (Ire), won for breeder Nancy Shuford at Mountaineer Oct. 22. The 6-year-old chestnut horse ran 6 furlongs in 1:12.16. Sag Harbor broke slow and settled near the back of the pack, moved in the upper stretch and reached the finish line just in time, winning by a half length.

Double Tough Tiger, by Tourist out of She'sa Tough Tiger, by Tiger Ridge, won for breeder Beth Muirhead at Camarero Racetrack. The 5-year-old dark bay gelding ran 1 1/16 miles on a muddy track. Double Tough Tiger was squeezed at the start, stalked the pace, moved to the outside in the stretch, and led the way to the wire to win by 1¼ lengths.

Uptowncharlybrown Stud sets all-time season record

By Nikki Sherman

UTCB Stud LLC is named after their star stallion Uptowncharlybrown

It has been said many times that Pennsylvania is THE place to breed and race Thoroughbreds. The story of Uptowncharlybrown Stud LLC (UTCB Stud), aptly named after their star stallion, proves without a doubt that it's true. The truly remarkable story of the chestnut stallion is quite the whirlwind tale.

The all-time season record-holder in Pennsylvania for combined Breeder and Stallion Awards, which was set just last year by Northview Stallion Station at $502,000, has already been surpassed. As of Sept. 30, and with a solid three months to go, UTCB Stud has overtaken that mark with over $548,000 and climbing. From that figure, Uptowncharlybrown himself has accounted for $152,044 in Stallion Awards.

The story of Uptowncharlybrown began at the 2009 April OBS 2YOs in Training auction when Bob Hutt, the current President of the Pennsylvania Thoroughbred Horsemen's Association (PTHA) and CEO of Uptowncharlybrown Stud LLC submitted the winning bid of $57,000 for Uptowncharlybrown. Before he ever made his first start, the story of Uptowncharlybrown had already begun. While training as a 2-year-old at Monmouth Park, Hutt's trainer and longtime best friend Alan Seewald said the handsome chestnut colt was the "best horse he had ever trained". Seewald was proven correct in the colt's debut Dec. 26, 2009, at Tampa Bay Downs when Uptowncharlybrown broke his maiden by a widening 9 lengths. He followed that up with a resounding 6-length victory in Tampa Bay Downs' early Triple Crown prep, the $75,000 Pasco Stakes.

After only two starts Uptowncharlybrown Stud received an offer for their colt of $2,500,000. At that time, he was prominently mentioned in the prestigious 2010 Derby Dozen as a hot contender for the Kentucky Derby. However, Hutt was resolute in his trust of Seewald's observation of Uptowncharlybrown and declined the offer.

Hutt's world was turned completely upside down when Seewald unexpectedly passed away in his sleep on April 12, 2010. With a broken heart, Hutt sent Uptowncharlybrown to a new trainer. The colt bravely contested the Grade 1 $1,000,000 Belmont Stakes in which he had an eventful trip. His saddle slipped approaching the 7-furlong pole yet he still managed to finish fifth, beaten by only 3½ lengths. What no one noticed was that after the finish line Uptowncharlybrown proceeded to gallop out some 20 lengths past the field. The bad luck continued when Uptowncharlybrown bowed a tendon while preparing for the $1-million Haskell Invitational and, after a year-long layoff, was unable to return at the same high level.

Hutt had been reading about the Pennsylvania breeding program, so when he retired Uptowncharlybrown in 2013, he knew exactly where the son of Limehouse should stand. Uptowncharlybrown was joined by a small band of seven "unproven" broodmares: all maidens, three of which had never even raced, while the other four were all low-level claimers. Hutt knew from a business perspective that this was an absolute recipe for disaster, but he was unmoved in his path to see success with Uptowncharlybrown. No successful commercial stallion had ever started with the deck so stacked against him, but Hutt did not care as his only goal was to breed a few claiming horses for his partnership to keep the memory of his best friend Alan Seewald alive. The first foal born was a flashy bay colt out of the Dixie Union mare Glorious Union. Even before birth, the foal's name was predetermined: Alan's Legacy. He would go on to win twice and earn $118,827.

Glenn Brok of Diamond B Farm, where Uptowncharlybrown and his "Angels" (the original broodmare partnership was named "Charly's Angels") lived, initially questioned the stallion's potential. But as more foals arrived, Brok marveled at the magnificent youngsters. "Chuck", as Brok affectionately called him, was a "freak" as a stallion. What he couldn't prove on the racetrack, he was now stamping through his progeny, who hit the ground running and never looked back.

From those humble beginnings Uptowncharlybrown started throwing stakes winner after stakes winner: Midtowncharlybrown ($581,248), followed by his full brother Midnightcharly ($452,258), graded stakes winner Dixie Serenade ($348,765) and Wait for It ($726,593). Midtowncharlybrown and Wait for It were both crowned PA-Bred Champions in multiple years.

From his first three crops, Uptowncharlybrown sired an additional six runners who earned over six figures, including stakes-placed Charlybrown's Rose (2nd $100,000 Power by Far Stakes) and Lula's Roadrunner (2nd $100,000 Mrs. Henry D. Paxson Memorial Stakes). Longevity has also been an important part of his legacy, as several of his offspring raced through ages 7 and 8. Rolls Royce Joyce ($235,928) and Lula's Roadrunner ($260,826) both raced in 2023 at the age of 6, with the former still in training.

While racing mainly Uptowncharly-brown progeny under the careful management of trainer Ed Coletti Jr., Uptowncharlybrown Stud LLC has finished in the top 1 percent of the Equibase Owner Standings since 2017. UTCB Stud has grown its broodmare band to 15 and each group of foals looks better than the previous one.

Pennsylvania breeders also started to take notice despite

Uptowncharlybrown's initial small foal crops. He has now sired several hundred foals, including runners not bred by UTCB Stud, among the latter (from his 2020 crop) stakes-placed Legend of Charlie (2nd $100,000 Mark McDermott Stakes) and Upstate and Back (3rd $100,000 Whistle Pig Stakes). Also in the crop are UTCB Stud's own stakes-performer Keithsendshelloooo and the UTCB-bred Marion Grace.

And nationally, Kentucky breeders advised Hutt that Uptowncharlybrown's AEI/CI ratio was among the best in the country for moving broodmares up as compared to if the same broodmares went to other stallions.

Buyers at auctions have also expressed interest in offspring of Uptowncharlybrown. UTCB Stud-bred Oxana was purchased for $65,000 as a 2-year-old and she went on to earn $336,010 during a career that included a victory in the $100,000 Roamin Rachel Stakes and multiple stakes placings. Graded stakes winner Dixie Serenade was offered at the prestigious Keeneland November Breeding Sale and while she ended up not meeting her reserve, buyers actively bid on her up to $425,000.

From humble beginnings it is nothing less than a miracle that Uptowncharlybrown is among the top-5 leaders by earnings in Pennsylvania in 2023 despite having 37 percent fewer runners than the leader. In addition, Uptowncharlybrown's progeny have cumulatively earned over $2 million.

It is projected that UTCB Stud will finish the year with approximately $750,000 in Breeder and Stallion Awards.

Do you believe in miracles? The success of Uptowncharlybrown is living proof to anyone thinking of breeding and racing: That if you can dream it, you can make all your dreams come true in Pennsylvania.

NOTE: Uptowncharlybrown (Limehouse—La Iluminada, by Langfuhr) will stand the 2024 season at Blackstone Farm in Pine Grove, Pa., for $2,500 LFSN, with special consideration to PA-foaling mares.

A few words from the Executive Secretary

Fantastic news for 2024! The PA-Sired PA-Bred Stallion Series is being expanded to include 3yos. You should have received a letter in the mail. If you were nominated for the 2023 2yo series, you're automatically eligible as a 3yo. If you did not nominate as a 2yo, the fee will be $100 if paid before April 30, 2024, for the 3yo races in 2024. For foals of 2022, the fee will include races for 2 and 3yos. Please refer to your letter as the earlier you nominate, the cheaper the fee.

The last leg of the 2yo PA-Sired PA-Bred Stallion Series will be run at PARX Dec. 27 at 1 mile and 70 yards with purses of $200,000. Nominations for the December races for 2yos, if not already nominated, are $5,000 through the PHBA office. You can go to pabred.com under 'Horses Nominated' to see if your horse is on the list. If not, go to 'Forms' and print the nomination form or just give us a call. Don't miss out on the fun. Please remember that if your horse is already nominated, you still MUST CALL the PARX racing office to enter your nomination.

The new 2024 Stallion and Boarding Farm Directory will be available online by Dec. 1 and mailed to all breeders shortly after that. We'll be sending out a list of the new 2024 stallions.

By now you should be familiar with the online registration system on our website. We will be transitioning to that in 2024. If you are still using a paper registration, please make sure you forward a signed copy of the Code of Ethics, which is attached to the registration form.

Broodmare domicile forms are online for the 2024 foaling season. These domicile reports are MANDATORY and if not completed, your foal could be denied PA-Bred registration. As usual, please contact our office with any questions you may have. Pennsylvania is the only place to Breed & Race! Have a great finish to 2023! Go PA!!

2024 BROODMARE DOMICILE REPORTS MUST BE COMPLETED BY DECEMBER 1, 2023
Online form can be found under “forms” tab or featured section on pabred.com
Broodmare domicile reports are required to register the resulting foal with PHBA.
If the form is not completed, your foal may be denied registration.

OFFICIAL NEWSLETTER DECEMBER 2023

Racing Across the Nation

Between Sept. 22 and Oct. 8, South Carolina training centers saw nine graduates win stakes races at seven different racetracks across the country.

On Sept. 22, Kettle Kiss, a graduate of Travis Durr's operation in St. Matthews, won the Miss Southern Ohio Stakes at Belterra Park. Kettle Kiss, sixth early on, launched her rally with 3 furlongs to go, working her way through the field and proved much the best winning by 3 lengths. This was her third win in a row.

A day later, Notice of Action made it 2-for-2 as a juvenile, capturing the Prince Lucky Stakes at Parx Racing. Notice of Action stalked the leaders while four-wide early on. He made the lead in the turn and in a hard fought stretch duel prevailed by a half length. This colt was developed by Randy and Kala Rentz.

Later that afternoon, the former Rentz student Nimitz Class recorded his sixth stakes victory in the Parx Dirt Mile Stakes. Nimitz Class was third for the first three-quarters of a mile, took the lead in the stretch and crossed the finish line 1¾ lengths in front. This 4-year-old colt has earned $717,080.

The 2-year-old New York-bred colt Canigetaloan took a narrow advantage at the sixteenth-pole and held on to win the Aspirant Stakes at Finger Lakes Sept. 25 by a head. He entered the race as a maiden, having finished second at Saratoga two weeks earlier. Canigetaloan went through the breaking process at the Travis Durr Training Center.

Another 2-year-old, Air Recruit, broke by Brad Stauffer and Ron Stevens' Legacy Stable in Aiken, defeated a full field of 12 in the Laurel Futurity Sept. 30. Fourth after a ½ mile, Air Recruit took over the lead at the three-sixteenths-pole and then galloped home a 5½-length winner.

Zandon, who has raced in 12 graded stakes during his career, hit paydirt in the Grade 2 Woodward at Belmont At the Big A meet Oct. 1. In an eventful trip, Zandon was involved in a bumping incident, and was forced to race wide. He was able to make the lead approaching the quarter-pole and then scampered home a 4¼-length winner. Last year, Zandon won the Blue Grass Stakes-G1 as a 3-year-old. He has earned $2,140,000 during his career. Zandon was developed by Travis Durr.

King Ice, who learned his early lessons from "Goree" Smith at his Elloree Training Center, gained his fourth career stakes victory, proving best in the To Much Coffee Handicap at Horseshoe Indianapolis Oct. 4. King Ice had only two beat after a quarter mile, dropping over 11 lengths off the pace. He was ridden with confidence, working his way past the field to take the lead in mid-stretch and from there, quickly enlarged his advantage to win by 6¼ lengths. King Ice has won five of his 10 career starts.

In his 24th career start, Hoist the Gold won a stakes for the first time, capturing the Phoenix Stakes-G2 at Keeneland Oct. 6. Hoist the Gold stalked the leaders into the stretch, took control in midstretch and held off the late closers to cross the finish line three-quarters of a length in front. Hoist the Gold went through the breaking process under the watchful eye of Travis Durr.

Book'em Danno recorded his third win in three career starts when proving best in the Futurity Stakes at the Belmont At the Big A meet Oct. 8. A former student at Randy and Kala Rentz' Rentz Farm Training Center, Book'em Danno was four of five early while racing four wide. In the stretch, the 2-year-old gelding took command and proved much the best winning by 6½ lengths.

Maryellen McEwan passes away

We extend our prayers to Wilhelmina and Fred McEwan, whose mother, Maryellen McEwan, passed away in Camden Sept. 29. She was 100 years old. Maryellen and her husband, Fred, built Fenwick Farm in Camden in the 1970s.

The farm, now operating as Fenwick Equestrian, has stayed in the family under the leadership of Wilhelmina and her brother, Fred. Wilhelmina has been a longtime member of the Board of Directors for SCTOBA.

Update on South Carolina Equine Advancement Act

As we continue inching toward the 2024 Legislative Session, we are working to move the needle in specific legislative districts across the state to build support for the passage of the S.C. Equine Advancement Act.

The S.C. Equine Advancement Act passed in the South Carolina House of Representatives earlier this year, and the bill will be up for debate in the Senate when the General Assembly reconvenes in January 2024. The S.C. Equine Advancement Act is on the Senate Floor, meaning it will not need to go back through the Senate Committee process.

VIRGINIA

OVER $886,000 IN PURSE MONEY DISTRIBUTED AT VIRGINIA'S FOUR NSA FALL STEEPLECHASE MEETS

Virginia's four sanctioned National Steeplechase Association meets were held over a five-week period starting with the October 1 Foxfield Fall Races in Charlottesville and concluding with the Montpelier Hunt Races at James Madison's homestead in Orange on November 4. In between, the Middleburg Fall Races took place October 14 at Glenwood Park followed by the season's showcase event -- the International Gold Cup card October 28 at Great Meadow in The Plains. In all, $886,250 in purse monies were distributed among the four led by the Gold Cup's robust $321,250 figure.

Bruton Street's Snap Decision went over the $1 million mark in earnings when he prevailed in the $75,000 David "Zeke" Ferguson Stakes, co-headlining event on the pari-mutuel Gold Cup card. The 9-year-old's three length victory over West Newton was impressive since the winner carried 20 pounds more than the runner-up under the race's handicap conditions. The win was number fifteen in Snap Decision's brilliant 42-race career which began on the flat in 2016 with trainer Shug McGaughey.

Snap Decision's trainer-rider combo of Jack Fisher and Graham Watters connected four times during the afternoon including a big score with Dolly Fisher's 13-year-old gelding Schoodic in the $75,000 International Gold Cup. The son of Tiznow won his 15th race from 52 starts and pushed his bankroll to $571,606. Schoodic also captured Middleburg's feature two weeks prior -- the $50,000 National Sporting Library & Museum Cup Timber Stakes. The 2023 edition also marked Schoodic's third stakes win at Great Meadow —- he scored in the 2021 Virginia Gold Cup and 2019 International Gold Cup.

At Montpelier, Wasdell Properties Ltd's Zabeel Champion was best in the day's feature -- the $75,000 Noel Laing (Gr. 2) Sport of Kings Hurdle Handicap Stakes at 2 ½ miles over the track's signature brush fences. The Laing event received a $15,000 purse bump this year and attracted a strong field of seven. The winner came in fresh off a victory in the $50,000 Appleton Stakes at Far Hills.

Schoodic pushed his bankroll to $571,606 by winning the International Gold Cup at Great Meadow on October 28 (Douglas Lees photo).

The highlight of Foxfield's six-race card was the $35,000 Mariann De Tejeda Memorial Foundation Ratings Handicap Hurdle which was won by South Branch Equine's Who's Counting. The Sean McDermott trainee won the 2-1/4 miles finale by 6-3/4 lengths. The 5-year-old Maryland-bred won for the first time since consecutive wins at Colonial Downs in 2022, a starter allowance on the flat over turf, and a handicap over fences.

Jumpers will return to action in March when a series of Point-to-Point meets kick off and continue nearly every weekend through April.

COLONIAL DOWNS DA HOSS STAKES WINNER NOBALS PREVAILS IN THE BREEDERS' CUP TURF SPRINT

Colonial Down's 2023 Da Hoss Stakes winner Nobals squeezed out another tight victory when he prevailed on racing's grand stage in the $1 million Breeders' Cup Turf Sprint (G1) November 4 — his first start since taking the $150,000 black type stakes over the summer in New Kent. The Colonial win was by a head while the "Cup" win was by a neck.

Patricia's Hope LLC's "Cup" winner parlayed a ground-saving trip into the tight win over Big Invasion in the 16th running of the Turf Sprint. Trained by Larry Rivelli — whose string competed at Colonial in 2022

No Nay Mets, winner of the 2023 Rosie's Stakes in New Kent, tried to follow 2019 Rosie's victor Four Wheel Drive in winning the Breeders' Cup Juvenile Turf Sprint (Coady Photography).

— and ridden by Gerardo Corrales, Nobals covered the five furlongs over a firm turf course in :55.15. It is the first Breeders' Cup victory for Rivelli and Corrales. Nobals is a 4-year-old Noble Mission (GB) gelding. Bred in Kentucky by Dr. John A. Chandler, he is out of the Empire Maker mare Pearly Blue. The victory was worth $520,000 and increased Nobals' lifetime earnings to $1,453,274 with a record of 18-10-3-0.

"Absolutely not how I drew it up," said trainer Rivelli. "Stuff happens in these types of races and I think the jock made the difference today. He rode the horse perfect and stayed inside and the gap came and he was gone. This is it. I'm a third-generation trainer and we've been doing this forever. I'm happy for the connections — Vince Foglia, my buddy — and all my owners and friends and staff and family… it's nice."

Beverly D Stakes winner Fev Rover was one of 11 horses that raced at Colonial Downs that competed in this year's Breeders' Cup event (Coady Photography).

TEN OTHER COLONIAL ALUM COMPETE IN 2-DAY BREEDERS' CUP CHAMPIONSHIPS

Ten other horses who raced at Colonial Downs, led by Fev Rover and Gina Romantica — the 1-2 finishers in the G1 Beverly D Stakes on August 12 — were among the 167 runners entered for the 2-day Breeders' Cup event.

In Saturday "Cup" action, the Mark Casse-trained Fev Rover, a 3½-length victress in the Beverly D., finished 11th in the G1 Filly & Mare Turf while Gina Romantica, from the barn of Chad Brown, was fourth in the G1 Mile. The Argentina-bred Didia, winner of the 2022 Old Nelson Stakes, competed in the Filly & Mare Turf for trainer Ignacio Correas IV while Brown's Adhamo, third in the G1 Arlington Million, was in the in G1 Turf. Calumet Farm's Gear Jockey, who finished sixth in the Van Clief Stakes, appeared in the G1 Turf Sprint.

The Friday "Future Stars" of racing card included five Colonial horses. The 2023 Rosie's Stakes winner, No Nay Mets, trained by George Weaver, finished a respectable fourth in the G1 Juvenile Turf Sprint. Trainer Kelsey Danner's Shards, who broke his maiden at Colonial September 7, finished fifth in the same race just two lengths behind victorious Big Evs. In 2019, the inaugural Rosie's winner, Four Wheel Drive, went on to capture the Juvenile Turf Sprint also at Santa Anita.

Additionally on Friday, Kitten's Joy Stakes winner, the Graham Motion-trained Tok Tok, and a pair of maiden winners for trainer Arnaud Delacour in Air Recruit and Fulmineo, all competed in the G1 Breeders' Cup Juvenile Turf.

VIRGINIA BREEDER'S AWARDS EXPAND

The VTA has exciting news to share about the Virginia Breeder's program that will further award horses that compete anywhere in North America. Beginning with foals of 2024, registered Virginia-breds will earn bonuses for finishing first, second or third in any open race in North America (excludes state-bred and state-sired races). Additionally, bonuses will be earned for any first thru third place finish in races at Colonial Downs and NSA sanctioned Virginia meets. These new incentives are pending Virginia Racing Commission approval which is expected at its December 6 meeting. Note that for races run prior to July 1, 2023, breeders will earn bonuses for wins only.

Eligibility requirements are as follows. For foals of 2023 and prior, a Virginia-bred thoroughbred horse is a horse registered by the Jockey Club, foaled in Virginia and registered with the VTA. Beginning with foals of 2024, a Virginia-bred thoroughbred horse is a horse foaled in Virginia, whose dam resides at a Virginia participating facility from September 1st of the year of the foal's conception through the foal's birth date, is registered by The Jockey Club, and is registered with the Virginia Thoroughbred Association.

More details on this and other incentive programs like the lucrative Virginia-Certified Residency initiative can be accessed at vabred.org.

West Virginia Breeders Classics XXXVII

By Jeff Gilleas

Robert Lee "Sam" Huff was born in a mining camp in Edna, W.Va., attended West Virginia University, celebrated as originator of the West Virginia Breeders Classics, and distinguished member of the National Football League Hall of Fame.

When the founder and face of the Breeders Classics was laid to rest, Ken Lowe, chairman of the West Virginia Racing Commission, and one of the most knowledgeable commissioners in the country, credited Sam for helping to save an iconic local industry.

Horse racing enthusiasts recognize co-founder of the West Virginia Breeders Classics, Carol Holden, for her tireless efforts to position racing and breeding in Sam's home state at the mountain top of Thoroughbred achievements.

On a rainy autumnal Jefferson County Saturday night, the 37th edition of the Breeders Classics once again provided the platform to participate in an exclusive equine fellowship.

SAM HUFF WEST VIRGINIA BREEDERS CLASSIC

Using soft fractions that rendered late runners less effective, Coastal Mission, a son of Great Notion out of Smart Crowd took only 1 minute and 53 seconds to create memories that will last for decades.

COADY PHOTOGRAPHY

Jeff Runco-trained Coastal Mission won the Sam Huff West Virginia Breeders Classic over stablemate and previous winner of the race, Muad'dib.

His emphatic victory over stablemate Muad'dib gave trainer Jeff Runco a 1-2 finish in the 1⅛-mile Classic.

Bred by owner Coleswood Farm, Coastal Mission overcame relative inexperience at the added distance to prevail under a superlative pace controlling ride by Arnaldo Bocachica.

WEST VIRGINIA VINCENT MOSCARELLI MEMORIAL BREEDERS CLASSIC

Jubawithatwist, a son of Juba out of Romantic Cork, started the evening off in rousing fashion for owner-trainer Kristy Petty, and a man that epitomized the connection between horse racing and agriculture, breeder John Allen Casey.

As a light rain sent the crowd scrambling for cover, starter Fran DiAmario dispatched the field of 2-year-old males, and the short-priced favorite dug in late for a popular victory.

The gray/roan gelding has the Casey father/son bloodline fingerprints in unmistakable view, as he overwhelmed rivals under jockey Gustavo Larrosa.

WEST VIRGINIA DEPARTMENT OF TOURISM BREEDERS CLASSIC

In her introduction to stakes company, Jubaslilballerina was completely ignored by the betting public (32-1), even though her form featured two wins and seven seconds in 10 career outings.

Artfully handled leading up to the race by trainer Ronnie Sigler, the daughter of Juba out of Misty Ballerina passed her sternest test under jockey Gustavo Larrosa.

Competing for owner Casey's Legacy, Jubaslilballerina proved her sire's offspring are consistent and durable.

The breeder is Taylor Mountain Farm, who successfully maintains the relationship between commercial breeder and family enterprise.

WEST VIRGINIA LOTTERY BREEDERS CLASSIC

True strength lies in numbers, so when ascending conditioner Ronnie Sigler opted to enter four horses, and barnmate Kristy Petty two, the fate of the $75,000 race appeared predestined.

Eventual winner, Juba's Hat Trick, a son of Juba out of Tricky Windsor, didn't break alertly under Gustavo Larrosa, but quickly seized a forward position, and in victory may have catapulted himself to the head of the division.

Owned by Casey Legacy and bred by Taylor Mountain Farm, the steely-colored sophomore perpetuates the long standing tradition of excellence on Breeders Classics night by the Jefferson County farm.

WEST VIRGINIA TRIPLE CROWN NUTRITION BREEDERS CLASSIC

Direct the Cat's performance on Breeders Classics night left even the most cynical of turf writers speechless.

The filly by first-year stallion Redirect out of Cat Thats Grey mandated comparisons beyond the immediate time and place.

Owned and trained by Cyndy McKee and bred by her late husband John McKee, Direct the Cat's turn-of-foot, while separating from her enfeebled opposition, was exceptional.

Coasting to a 12-length margin of victory, under regular pilot Reshawn Latchman, Direct the Cat is the opening winner for her promising sire.

Hessica won the West Virginia Cavada Breeders Classic for the second year in a row for owner/trainer Kristy Petty.

WEST VIRGINIA THOROUGHBRED BREEDERS ASSOCIATION ONION JUICE BREEDERS CLASSIC

Ridden along with no other option than to sacrifice ground, No Change fresh from an analogous trip in the Frank Gall Memorial, sprinted past tiring leaders to record his 14th lifetime win over his home track.

Bred by John McKee, the son of Fiber Sonde out of Looks Like Trouble races in the green cloverleaf silks of owner/trainer Cynthia McKee.

Jockey Marshall Mendez and No Change have collaborated for multiple stakes scores in a career that sports earnings just shy of $450,000.

WEST VIRGINIA DASH FOR CASH BREEDERS CLASSIC

In horse racing, there are a few components beyond human control, one being racing luck.

Post-time choice Little Roo Roo (4-5) unfortunately encountered a log jam of runners approaching the top of the stretch, significantly compromising his chances.

However, his bad luck turned into a bonanza for Mr. October, veteran sprinter Penguin Power.

Penguin Power's conformation and broad shoulders has taken owner David Raim and trainer Jeff Runco on the ride of a lifetime, winning five West Virginia Breeders Classic races.

The 8-year-old son of Fiber Sonde and Aye Robbin was bred by John McKee.

WEST VIRGINIA CAVADA BREEDERS CLASSIC

Hessica is owned and trained by one of the hardest working horsewomen, Kristy Petty.

The daughter of Juba out of Stefani's Surprise achieved a distaff milestone by winning back-to-back editions of the daunting Cavada Stakes.

Bred by Kristy Lynn Petty, Hessica seems to have Saturday Night Fever, as she boldly steps her game up on West Virginia's biggest night of racing action.

The dam of Hessica has been a stalwart of efficiency for team Casey also producing Hear the Chatter ($380,459) and Imagoodchatterbug ($160,788).

WEST VIRGINIA ROGER RAMEY BREEDERS CLASSIC

Winner of the Roger Ramey, Someday Is Today, is also the name of a popular book about thought-provoking strategies for success.

Ironically, the 5-year-old mare's sire is Carpe Diem, and her dam, Any Day Now.

The pre-race temperament of Someday Is Today generally dictates the quality of her performance.

Kudos to her connections for having her physically and mentally primed for a maximum effort, as she dominated the opposition over her preferred track option.

Someday Is Today is owned by Andrew Warren and trained by Charles Town Races leading conditioner Anthony Farrior.

The breeder is Schiano Racing Inc. and Carpe Diem Syndicate.

I'd like to personally thank track announcer/publicity virtuoso, Paul Espinosa Jr., for his devoted crusade in helping make the 37th rendering of the West Virginia Breeders Classics a huge success.

Paul's tagline should read, "I never met a Breeders Classic I didn't like."

■ Eighttofasttocatch became a two-time Maryland Million Classic winner when he dusted six rivals. The 7-year-old Not For Love gelding owned by Sylvia and Arnold Heft won the Classic in 2011 and finished fifth in 2012.

Eighttofasttocatch went on to win the Classic again in 2014, becoming the first three-time winner of the race.

■ Fred High toppled favorites Lucy's Bob Boy and track legend Russell Road to win the 2013 West Virginia Breeders Classic. After moving to the barn of Jerry Robb, the Edward Krishack homebred got his first Classic win in three tries, following a sixth in 2012 and a fourth in 2011.

■ Pennsylvania-bred Divine Fortune stepped up to win the 2013 American Grand National-G1 for breeders/owners Jonathan Sheppard and Bill Pape. The win snapped a string of five near-misses in Grade 1 races.

Although this was his only stakes win of 2013, Divine Fortune was named 2013 Eclipse Award-winning steeplechaser.

■ Two Grade-1 winning Mid-Atlantic-bred mares brought seven figures at the elite fall mixed sales in Kentucky. Ask the Moon, bred in Maryland by Charles and Cynthia McGinnes and Country Life Farm, was purchased by Stonestreet Thoroughbred Holdings for $1.8 million in foal to War Front. Her Smile, bred by Bill Backer in Virginia and in foal to Ghostzapper, went to SF Bloodstock for $1,075,000.

■ For the first time in a decade, Maryland had a new stallion station, with Heritage Stallions in Chesapeake City taking in its first residents. Six stallions joined the roster, four from eight-time Eclipse Award leading breeder Frank Stronach's Adena Springs, including Kentucky Derby-G1 winner Giacomo and Canadian champion Hunters Bay.

■ Other new stallions in the region included Grade 1 winners Corinthian and Any Given Saturday to Bill Solomon's Pin Oak Lane Farm in Pennsylvania after stints in Kentucky, and sprinter Buffum, ready to stand his first season at Northview Stallion Station in Chesapeake City.

25 years ago

■ In the words of Mid-Atlantic Thoroughbred editor Timothy Capps, the 13th Maryland Million Day was "absolutely, irrefutably, stone-cold perfection." Jockey Edgar Prado won five of the 10 Maryland Million flat races, the richest when guiding Barbara Graham's homebred Algar (by Horatius) to a second consecutive victory in the $200,000 Cosamin DS Maryland Million Classic. Records were set for attendance and handle. Maryland Million founder Jim McKay said, "This is just the way we always envisioned it. The atmosphere is perfect – the crowd, all the activities, the fields –this is the way Maryland Million is supposed to be.

■ A $400,000 Dehere filly smashed the record for the most expensive Thoroughbred sold at Timonium, and became the highest-priced horse sold by longtime Virginia consignors Sam and Carolyn Rogers. The top-selling colt was a $220,000 son of Not For Love consigned by Walnut Green (Jones Bros.) for breeders Katherine and Art Willson. The Maryland-bred was the first foal out of Three Grand (by Assert-Ire), a mare Art co-bred and sold and Katherine eventually bought back for $2,800. Not For Love's stud fee was $3,500.

From the first crop of Not For Love, the May colt sold the following April at Keeneland for $2 million, equaling the world record for a 2-year-old sold at public auction. Purchased by Demi O'Byrne and named La Salle Street, he ran second once in three starts.

■ The Casey family dominated the West Virginia Breeders Classics, and recorded a seventh win in 12 runnings of the state's richest race. Step Out Dancing, by the Caseys' former stallion Dancing Czar, won the 1998 Classic; he was a half-brother to the previous year's winner, Take Aim. Other Casey family winners of the featured event were Taylor Mountain (1989 and '90), Coin Collector (1992 and '93) and Nice Ainit (1991).

■ Crowd Pleaser lived up to his name in the inaugural Virginia Derby at Colonial Downs for owner/breeder George Strawbridge and trainer Jonathan Sheppard. Sent off at 7-5, the Pennsylvania-bred took command in the stretch and scored by 3 lengths in a course record of 2:00⅕ for 1¼ miles.

■ Military, a Virginia-bred colt by Danzig bred by Morven Stud and sold as a yearling to Prince Ahmed bin Salman's The Thoroughbred Corp., won the Oak Tree Turf Championship-G1. At Keeneland, Tenski, a Maryland-bred daughter of Polish Numbers, established herself as the top 3-year-old turf filly in the country with her victory in the Grade 1 Queen Elizabeth II Challenge Cup Invitational Stakes.

■ A Nureyev colt who set a record as the most expensive yearling sold in Europe, bringing $5,386,500, was out of a Philadelphia Park claimer named Go Solo. Go Solo was owned by former New Jersey breeder Larry Littman, best known as the breeder of 1992 Kentucky Derby winner Lil E. Tee. Littman claimed Go Solo for $20,000 at Philadelphia Park in 1986 and retired the daughter of Riverman as a broodmare. Her first two foals were graded stakes winner Gold Fleece (by Deputed Testamony) and stakes winner Don't Touch Lil (by Caveat).

75 years ago

■ Pimlico's rebuilt race course proved to be extremely fast during the fall meet and a number of track records – and one world record – were set during the 13-day span. The world mark went to Mill River Stable's Miss Grillo, who toured 2½ miles in 4:14⅘. Maryland Horse Breeders Association president Henry Straus' homebred Pilaster set two track marks, one of 2:55⅗ for 1⅞ miles in the Gov. Bowie and one of 3:39⅗ for 2 1/16 miles in the Exterminator Handicap. The latter was all the more remarkable because the race was run on a muddy oval.

Pilaster (above), a 4-year-old gelding by Pilate, rang up five stakes victories during Maryland's fall racing season.

It was a breakout year for Pilaster, who would go on to win 14 stakes while racing through age 9.

■ Three of Maryland's most prominent racing stables were spreading out across the country for the winter – Alfred Vanderbilt's Sagamore string to Santa Anita in California; S.W. Labrot Jr.'s headed to the Fair Grounds in New Orleans; and the Bobanet Stable of R. Bruce Livie racing in Florida.

■ Maryland-bred Scattered was picked third of all 3-year-old fillies in the Daily Racing Form's best horse polls, behind Miss Request and Bewitch. That she ever made it to the races was a miracle.

Foaled at Mrs. Charles W. Williams' Stadacona Farm, Scattered experienced internal hemorrhages as a yearling. It was reported: "[She] spent most of one day lying flat on the floor of her stall, with two or three veterinarians pumping glucose and what-not into her. Several times her pulse stopped, and the vets would have stopped too, except that she was by Whirlaway from the fine mare Imperatrice."

Scattered was Imperatrice's second foal, and first of the mare's six stakes winners. In 1973, the year Secretariat (out of Scattered's winless half-sister Somethingroyal) won the Triple Crown – Scattered's great-grandson, Quarter Horse legend Dash for Cash, was born.

■ Alfred Vanderbilt's creativity was again evident following the release of Sagamore Farm's annual list of yearling names. Among the gems: Jam (Impound—Cherry Orchard), Bed o' Roses (Rosemont—Good Thing) and Next Move (Bull Lea—Now What).

*Maryland-bred Jam was the nation's champion steeplechaser of 1952. Next Move and Bed o' Roses, both foaled in California when their dams were bred to *Beau Pere and Alibhai, respectively, dominated the female divisional ranks from 1949 through 1952 .

■ Maryland's fall sales market was down, but in line with the national trend. "A lot of horses were being sent down the drain pipe, but whenever anything with a touch of class or promise showed up it got attention. Many of the animals sold were on their way out of the Thoroughbred breeding picture." For the first time the Maryland auctions were under the direction of the Fasig-Tipton Company of New York. George Swinebroad officiated as auctioneer "in his usual crisp style" with Milton Dance Jr. occasionally stepping in to give him a rest. Dance's "startling ability to pump out a steady stream of 'the chant' while hardly drawing breath enough to shoo a fly drew a round of brisk, spontaneous applause."

■ The Grayson Foundation compiled reports in collaboration with the University of Pennsylvania regarding prevention and control of future threats of what was known as "swamp fever" and the setting up of a project to fight equine influenza. The Grayson Foundation was organized in 1940 and operated on funds provided by tracks, owners and others interested in Thoroughbred horses.

50 years ago

■ Nancy Boyce profiled 24-year-old Katy Merryman Voss and marveled at her accomplishements. An "A" rated Pony Clubber with a bachelor's degree in mathematics, Voss trained Twixt, an eight-time stakes winner in 1973. Bred by Voss' parents, John and Kitty Merryman, who owned the 4-year-old Restless Native filly in partnership by Mrs. John Franklin, Twixt was on her way to becoming one of the richest Maryland-bred mares in history.

■ Nostrum, the highest-priced yearling sold at the Eastern Fall Sales in Timonium, won his first two starts at Aqueduct. Consigned by breeder E.P. Taylor, the 2-year-old Maryland-bred son of Dr. Fager, and a half-brother to Northern Dancer, was bought by John A. Bell for $155,000.

Nostrum twice placed in stakes at 3, retired to stud with earnings of $52,226, and became the sire or broodmare sire of multiple stakes winners, but just a fraction in number compared to his illustrious brother.

■ Alfred Patrick Smithwick, one of the greatest steeplechase riders produced in Maryland, died at age 46 after a long battle with cancer. Smithwick was the nation's leading steeplechase rider five times during the 20 years that he rode and inducted into racing's Hall of Fame in 1973. He was credited with 398 victories in steeplechase races (still second all-time to the 440 won by another Marylander, Joe Aitcheson) and another 63 wins on the flat. Smithwick was the regular rider of national champions Neji and Bon Nouvel.

In 1978, Marylander Howard F. Streaker Jr. (at reins) showed how Christmas trees would have been carried to his Clear View Farm in Howard County during the 19th century.

Walter M. "Skip" Ball was an award-winning staff photographer for Maryland Horse magazine from the mid-1960s to the late 1980s. His children donated his work to the Maryland Horse Breeders Association several years ago, and the photographs are part of the Maryland Horse Library as the Skip Ball Collection. In the next stages of our archiving projects, Ball's films and slides will be digitized to preserve this gifted photographer's legacy.

2024 Mid-Atlantic Stallion Directory

Pedigree page explanations

Included in this section are pedigrees and pertinent data on 55 Thoroughbred stallions standing at stud in the Mid-Atlantic region.

Statistics are accurate at least through Nov. 5, 2023. Statistics, as furnished by The Jockey Club Information Systems, Bloodstock Research Inc., Equibase and/or Daily Racing Form, include results from North America, England, Ireland, France, Italy and Japan. Foreign statistics for countries other than England, Ireland, France, Italy and Japan are included when available.

The Mid-Atlantic Thoroughbred has adopted the following criteria for stakes qualification:

1. Winners of all stakes appear in boldface capitals.

2. Horses finishing second or third in stakes appear in boldface upper and lower case letters.

3. Horses finishing second or third in graded stakes, as defined by International Cataloguing Standards, appear in bold face upper and lower case letters.

Abbreviations: ntr—new track record, ncr—new course record, nAr—new American record, nCr—new Canadian record, nwr—new world record. An "e" substituted for "n" means "equals."

In Stud Records, the name of the sire of the dam appears in parentheses following the name of the stakes horse.

In Male Lines and Stud Records, progeny are arranged in order by champions, Grade 1 winners then stakes winners by earnings.

NOTICE: The eligibility status of stallions nominated to national or state breeders' programs (Breeders' Cup, Maryland Million, etc.) is dependent on the nominators' compliance with conditions, rules and regulations of those programs.

Mid-Atlantic Thoroughbred cannot assume responsibility for nominators' compliance with these regulations. Mare owners are advised to confirm eligibility with the stallion owners.

DOSAGE

Dosage is explained as follows by Dr. Steve Roman, preeminent authority on the dosage system, a mathematical method of measuring a horse's inclination toward speed or stamina based on the chefs-de-race, or influential sires, in his pedigree.

" 'Chefs' are assigned to one or two of five aptitudinal groups (Brilliant, Intermediate, Classic, Solid and Professional) covering the spectrum (from left to right) of speed to endurance. We assign a total potential value of 16 points to each generation. Since there are, progressively, one, two, four and eight sires in the first four generations, 'chefs' which appear among these sires will contribute 16, 8, 4 and 2 points each as we work back. The points for all 'chefs' present are then tallied in the appropriate aptitude columns. 'Chefs' which confer two aptitudinal characteristics have their points split between the two aptitudes. In the end, the total points in each column produce the Dosage Profile, a series of five numbers which reflect the relative proportions of each of the five aptitudes in this order: Brilliant-Intermediate-Classic-Solid-Professional.

"The ratio of points in the speed wing (Brilliant points + Intermediate points + ½ the Classic points) to points in the stamina wing (½ the Classic points + Solid points + Professional points) is the Dosage Index. (Dividing the stamina points into the speed points.) This number is directly proportional to the speed in a pedigree and inversely proportional to the stamina. A DI of 1.00 indicates a perfect balance of the two.

"Consider the five aptitude groups as points spaced equally along a linear scale where Brilliant is assigned a value of +2.00, Intermediate is +1.00, Classic is 0.00, Solid is -1.00 and Professional is -2.00, the DP allows for the calculation of the Center of Distribution, that point along the scale corresponding to the total combined influence of all 'chefs' in the pedigree. Calculation of the CD is done by taking the sum of (twice the Brilliant points) + (Intermediate points) - (Solid points) - (twice the Professional points) and dividing that number by the total points in the DP. An exact balance of speed and stamina yields a CD of 0.00."

PEDIGREE CROSS INDEX

This Pedigree Cross Index allows a breeder to nick, inbreed or outcross broodmares by easy reference. Indexed are the names of sires and dams within the first three generations of all stallions in the 2024 Stallion Directory.

Example: SECRETARIAT - Capo Bastone, Friesan Fire, Long River

In the above example, Secretariat appears in one of the first three generations of all the stallions listed after him.

Suppose a breeder has a mare that is a granddaughter of Mr. Prospector or has crosses of that sire in her pedigree. The breeder may want to breed her to a stallion with Northern Dancer blood to take advantage of the Northern Dancer—Mr. Prospector nick. Looking up "Northern Dancer" in this index can find stallions in this register with Northern Dancer in one of the first three generations of their pedigrees.

If a mare is a granddaughter of Seattle Slew, breeders may wish to inbreed to that stallion and get more of Seattle Slew's makeup in the foal. By checking "Seattle Slew" in the index, breeders can find all advertised stallions with Seattle Slew in their pedigrees.

What if a mare is already inbred or linebred? She might have 2 or 3 crosses of Deputy Minister in her first four generations for example. The breeder may want to make sure the stallion choice has no Deputy Minister or no Deputy Minister up close in his pedigree. Looking for "Deputy Minister" in the index can readily identify stallions in this Stallion Register to avoid for a mare.

The pedigree cross index was prepared by The Jockey Club Information Services.
